Dear Ms. Gilroy:

The Colorado General Assembly required Secretary of State to make changes to Colorado's central filing system and to create a computer system to electronically publish and distribute the master list of farm product liens. The statutory changes enacted by the General Assembly cannot become effective until 90 days after my office provides notice to you. This notice requires me to certify that the changes to central filing system were approved by the United State Department of Agriculture and that my office created the required computer system.

Today, I hereby certify that the United States Department of Agriculture approved the central filing system changes on August 8, 2007<sup>1</sup> and that the computer system necessary to publish and distribute the matter list electronically is developed and ready to deploy.

Sincerely,

Scott Gessler
Colorado Secretary of State
