stakeholder meetings to solicit input on considerations to include in the state department's request for federal authorization.

The bill grants the state department the authority to promulgate rules necessary to facilitate reimbursement for community health worker services.

The bill requires that on or before January 31, 2026, the state department include a report on how community health workers are being utilized through medicaid in its presentation to the joint budget committee of the general assembly and in its presentation at the "State Measurement for Accountable, Responsive, and Transparent (SMART) Government Act" hearing.

1 Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Colorado:

2 SECTION 1. Legislative declaration. (1) The general assembly
3 finds and declares that:

4 (a) The American Public Health Association defines "community
5 health worker" as a frontline public health worker who is a trusted
6 member of, and has a close understanding of, the community that worker
7 serves. This trusting relationship enables the worker to serve as a liaison 8 between health and social services and improve the quality and cultural 9 competence of service delivery. "Community health worker" is meant to 10 be an umbrella term for individuals who may go by many names, such as 11 health promoters, community outreach workers, promotores de salud,
12 health navigators, and patient navigators.

13 (b) Community health workers play a critically important part in 14 informing communities about services that help prevent the onset or 15 progression of disease, disability, and other health conditions and promote 16 physical, dental, and behavioral health and efficiency;

17 (c) Community health workers are crucial in providing access to 18 services that are available to communities with the goal of reducing 19 health disparities and improving health outcomes;

1 (d) Community health workers are trusted members of their
2 communities who have personal experience with a health condition, lived
3 experience, and a shared language and cultural background, and they help 4 to address chronic conditions, preventive health-care needs, and 5 health-related social needs within their communities in a culturally 6 relevant manner;

7 (e) Current research demonstrates that community health worker
8 services improve health-care outcomes and promote health equity.
9 Interventions that integrate community health worker services into 10 health-care delivery and public health systems are associated with 11 reductions in chronic illnesses, better medication adherence, increased 12 patient involvement, improvements in overall community health, and 13 reduced health-care costs.

14 (f) The centers for medicare and medicaid services recognizes that 15 community health workers play an integral role in achieving health
16 equity. Community health workers help health-care and public health
17 systems improve health-care quality, address health-care workforce
18 shortages, and strengthen relationships and trust within the communities
19 for which they provide care.

20 (g) Research on community health worker interventions that 21 address unmet social needs for historically marginalized populations 22 found that every dollar invested in the intervention returns $2.47 to an 23 average medicaid payer within a fiscal year;

24 (h) Evidence supporting the involvement of community health 25 workers in the prevention and management of costly chronic diseases is 26 well established. Interventions incorporating community health workers
27 have been found to be effective for improving knowledge about cancer

1 screening as well as screening outcomes for both cervical and breast
2 cancer. Asthma symptom frequency was reduced by 35 percent among 3 adolescents working with community health workers. Community health
4 worker interventions improve patient self-efficacy, quality of life,
5 adherence to medical care, and satisfaction with care for individuals with 6 kidney failure.

7 (i) Research on Colorado health worker interventions has shown 8 positive results related to cost-effectiveness and improvements in 9 community and individual health-related outcomes;

10 (j) Community health workers include violence prevention
11 professionals who may be employed by hospital-based violence
12 intervention programs. These workers identify and target risk factors of 13 violence, then link program participants with hospital and 14 community-based resources. The rate of hospital readmission for 15 participants who engaged in these programs was reduced by 50 percent, 16 with an accrued savings of $32,000, a tenfold reduction.

17 (k) The Community Heart Health Actions for Latinos At-risk
18 Program, a lifestyle program in Colorado that focuses on modifying risk 19 for cardiovascular disease and diabetes, effectively used community
20 health workers to support participants in lowering their blood pressure, 21 addressing risk factors such as cholesterol and weight management, and 22 improving dietary behaviors;

23 (l) The Colorado Heart Healthy Solutions (CHHS) program is a
24 community-based health-worker-led program that educates program
25 participants about their cardiovascular disease risks and steps to improve 26 their cardiovascular health. For over five years, CHHS has assisted more 27 than 36,000 individuals and has promoted behavior changes such as

1 decreased fat intake, higher engagement in physical activity, lowering of 2 blood pressure, and increasing health-related knowledge.

3 (m) CHHS has also been shown to be cost effective, with cost
4 savings being greater for at-risk populations, suggesting that 5 population-based public health programs have the potential to 6 complement preventive primary care services to improve health outcomes
7 and reduce the financial burden of traditional medical care.

8 (2) Therefore, the general assembly finds that it is in the best
9 interest of the state of Colorado to reduce health disparities and support 10 the community health worker workforce by prioritizing expanded access 11 to community health worker services in health-care and public health
12 settings across the state to contribute to lower health-care costs and better 13 health outcomes.
