Background

In 1993, the Colorado Legislature passed
 Senate Bill 131, creating the Family Resource Center
 Program across Colorado.

- The statute defines a Family Resource Center (FRC) as a "unified single point of entry where vulnerable families, individuals, children, and youth in communities...can obtain information, assessment of needs, and referral to delivery of family services." Title 26-18-102
- Family Resource Center Association (FRCA) was created in 1998 to support the Family Resource Center Program and the 21 FRCs across Colorado.
- In State Fiscal Year 2015-16, $750,000 was added to the state budget for family support case management in 10 FRCs.
- There are currently 29 FRCs in urban, rural, and mountain communities supported by FRCA.

A Family Resource Center...

• Uses a two-generation approach with a dual focus on the needs of both children and parents.

- Provides multiple services and supports to families through strengths.
   based comprehensive, coordinated case management.
- Acts as a family friendly access point where families can ask for and receive the help they need.
- Is tailored to the culture, resources, and needs of the community and focuses on supporting and building on the strengths of each family.
- Works one-on-one with families to help them set and achieve transformative goals and help them become more self-reliant.

Funding Sources of 10 FRCs receiving state funding:

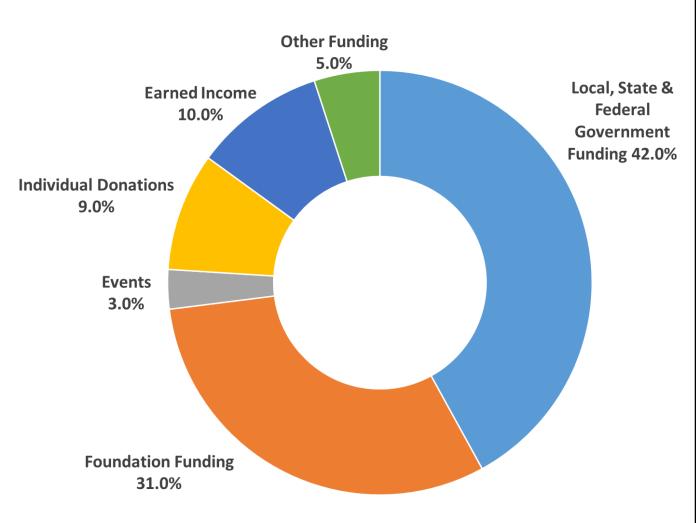

42% Government 31% Foundations

10% Earned Income

9% Individuals

5% Other

3% Events

Services provided by Family Resource Centers

- Comprehensive Family Support Case Management
- System Navigation and Resource Referral
- Parenting Education
- Financial Literacy
- Early Childhood Education
- Food Pantries
- Adult Education
- Workforce Development
- Emergency Services

Impact of Family Resource Centers:

- FRCs currently use the Colorado Family Support Assessment 2.0 to measure the impact of family support case management.
- FRCs collect data in a data system maintained by the Family Resource Center Association (FRCA).
- FRCA and an independent research partner agency, OMNI, annually analyze this data, which shows statistically significant improved family outcomes in economic self-sufficiency, health, and parenting skills.

Families who engage in family support services are assessed in:

14 Self-Sufficiency Categories

- Income
- Cash Savings
- Employment
   Debt
  - DebtManagement
- Housing
- Transportation C
- Food Security
- Child Care
- Child Education
- Adult Education

- Health Coverage
- Physical Health
- Mental Health
- Substance Abuse

Five Protective Factors to reduce child abuse and neglect:

- Parental Resilience
- Social Connections
- Concrete Support in Times of Need
- Children Social and Emotional Development
- Knowledge of Parenting and Child Development

Evaluation of Family Support Services:

An evaluation of the 10 centers who received state funding shows that in July 2016-June 2017:

- 1,404 families received comprehensive, coordinated case management.
- FRCs provided 9,301 distinct services to families.
- Families had significantly higher scores on all protective factors known to prevent child maltreatment as well as increasing economic self-sufficiency and family functioning in areas like health and parenting skills.
- 62% of these families had a household income at or below 100% of Federal Poverty Level (under $25,100 for a family of 4), demonstrating that the FRCs serve Colorado's most vulnerable families.

The Need for Additional Funding:

- Currently, state funding supports statutorily mandated family support case management services in 10 FRCs.
- Without additional funding, FRCs are limited in their ability to provide necessary family support case management to meet statutory requirements.
- Families will have difficulty accessing needed services and will remain vulnerable to the impacts of poverty and an increased risk for child maltreatment.
- Many of the 10 centers receiving state funding have waitlists to serve families with family support case management.
