Summary of Legislation

---

Under current law, "anti-growth law" means a land use law that explicitly limits either the growth of the population or the number of building permit applications for residential development in a given year. This bill expands the definition of anti-growth laws to include any law that, in census urban areas, explicitly decreases the permitted residential density or uses of land to less density or fewer uses than were allowed under its previous usage, without ensuring a corresponding increase of residential density or uses elsewhere in the jurisdiction.

If a citizen-initiated measure concerning land use is submitted to a municipality, before the measure is referred to the ballot, the municipality may seek a judicial determination of the legality of the measure that proposes to restrict or limit the development or use of land. The owners of property subject to citizen initiative and persons bringing the initiative are entitled to intervene in the proceeding. The time period to adopt an initiated ordinance or call an election must be tolled while the courts consider the petition.

State Expenditures

The bill minimally increases workload in the Division of Housing and the Division of Local Government in the Department of Local Affairs (DOLA) to update internal guidance documents and to respond to inquiries from local governments and housing developers. This effort does not require additional appropriations.

Local Government

The bill clarifies the types of anti-growth laws that a local government is prohibited from adopting. The bill will minimally increase workload for local governments to review existing ordinances for needed updates or revisions; however, this effort is limited only to a local government that has or is contemplating some form of anti-growth law.

Effective Date

The bill was signed into law by the Governor on March 31, 2025, and takes effect on August 6, 2025, assuming no referendum petition is filed.
