RESIGNATION

September 27, 2017

Marilyn Eddins
Chief Clerk of the Colorado State House of Representatives
200 E. Colfax, Room 271
Denver, CO 80203

Dear Madame Chief Clerk Eddins:

I write this letter to formally tender my resignation from the Colorado House of Representatives as the House District 26 Representative effective at the close of business on November 2, 2017.

I have been deeply honored to represent the people of Eagle County and Routt County in the Colorado House. However, I am running to represent all the people of Colorado’s United States Congressional District 3 in the 2018 election. I cannot do justice to both jobs: being an effective, responsive, transparent full-time legislator for the people of HD26 and running a full-time campaign in the largest US Congressional District in the US that is not an entire state. CD3 covers 29 counties and 54,000 square miles.
I have enjoyed working with you very much. You are the exemplar of the dedicated, expert public servant who is fair to all and really cares about the Colorado House of Representatives.

Likewise, I have deep respect for my colleagues in the Colorado House of Representatives.

The Democratic Party Vacancy Committee for HD26 will convene after you have received this letter to select my replacement for the 2018
Session according to the rules and CRS. I know the new HD26
Representative will work hard and be a great addition to the House.

Thank you for your tireless commitment to good government and to the People's House.

Sincerely yours,

(signed)

Dear Minority Leader,

Effective immediately I am resigning from the Colorado State House of Representatives - House District 47. It has been my honor and privilege to have served with you and all of my distinguished colleagues since 2013.
Together, we have fought the good fight, and it is my hope that you and the Republican Caucus will continue your diligent and thoughtful work for the taxpayers of Colorado.

I leave with mixed emotions, but I'm confident I'll be able to continue my work for agriculture and rural America in my next endeavor. I have been appointed to serve in the Trump Administration as the Colorado State Farm Service Agency State Director.

To all of the staff at the Capitol, my fellow Members of the Colorado State Legislature, and especially to those who elected me three times I leave with a full heart of gratitude knowing we have done some good work and we have prevented some bad legislation for Colorado. Please continue to fight for less government, lower taxes, and most of all liberty.

Speaker Duran addressed the members of the House of Representatives:

Thank you and welcome to the second regular session of the 71st General Assembly.

2018 is shaping up as another great year for Colorado. Our overall economy continues to grow and our unemployment rate continues to be one of the lowest in the nation.

We continue to attract new jobs, new businesses and new events. Later this month, for the first time, we’ll host the Outdoor Retailer Show, one of many tangible rewards for our forward-thinking conservation policies and commitment to public lands. It should be a point of pride for all Coloradans, especially our military veterans, that the Navy’s newest attack submarine, to be commissioned in March, is the USS Colorado. But the best news for our veterans is that barring further federal delays our new state-of-the-art VA hospital in Aurora will finally open this summer!

Members, we are gathered here because we believe in service, in the ability to make positive change, in the power of working together to solve complex problems.

And because we love Colorado and what it stands for: Opportunity for all who show responsibility through hard work. A strong sense of community, where people are valued not for their wealth or their connections, but for what they do for others. A spirit of cooperation and inclusiveness. And of course our spectacular vistas and open spaces.

From the golden dome of this building we can see three Fourteeners and one of the most vibrant economies in America. So many people are moving here for the mix of sunshine, scenic beauty and economic opportunity that we call the Colorado way of life.

Our task over the next 120 days is to preserve and enhance our Colorado way of life, which is so different from the discord and dysfunction emanating from Washington DC.

Coloradans are counting on us to stand strong, to be productive, to defy the unsettling trends we’ve seen elsewhere in America. The eyes of Colorado will be on us, including some special guests who have come to this chamber this morning.

The first Latino speaker of the Colorado House, Ruben Valdez.

The first Latina to serve in the House and Senate of any state legislature, Polly Baca.

Former Lieutenant Governor Gail Schoettler.

Denver DA and former representative Beth McCann.

Former representatives Fran Coleman, Su Schafer, Rosemary Marshall and Roger Wilson.

We also welcome two new members, Representative Dylan Roberts of Eagle County and Representative Judy Reyher [rye-er] of Otero County.

Representative Roberts is now the youngest member of the General Assembly, part of a new generation of leaders. If he is a glimpse of the future, our future is bright.

The two of you have joined a group of legislators who have shown that through respectful dialogue and inclusiveness we can turn our wide range of experiences and perspectives into policy that truly benefits the people of our state.

We can point with pride to what we achieved for Coloradans in the 2017 session, which was widely acclaimed as the most productive in recent memory.
We proved that we don’t just talk about not being like Washington DC. We proved by our actions that here in Colorado, we can work together to get things done.

After years of effort, we made a bipartisan breakthrough on a budget restructure called the hospital provider fee. Fixing it saved hospitals around the state from more than half a billion dollars in budget cuts. Those cuts would have impacted every hospital in the state, and would have been fatal to some of our smaller hospitals in rural areas of Colorado.

Last session I visited Lincoln Community Hospital in the Eastern Plains town of Hugo. I saw firsthand how essential our rural hospitals are. They are the nursing home, family clinic, ambulance service and sometimes hospice care for their communities.

Rural hospitals saved Edward Humphrey. Aside from serving in the Korean War, Ed has lived on the Eastern Plains all his life. He met his wife, Barbara, when he was a hired hand threshing corn for Barbara’s grandparents. He went on to work as a Colorado brand inspector for two decades.

Last Friday they celebrated their 67th wedding anniversary.

If not for Lincoln Community Hospital, Ed might not have been around to mark two-thirds of a century of marriage.

In 2016, he experienced life-threatening complications following surgery. But the doctors at Lincoln Community pulled him through.

Barbara Humphrey said, “I can breathe easier knowing that Lincoln Community Hospital is open and remains open. Because of the budget restructure, Lincoln Community Hospital continues to save lives every day.”

Barbara Humphrey is here with us today, joined by Kevin Stansbury, president and CEO of Lincoln Community Hospital. Also with us is Konnie Martin, CEO of San Luis Valley Health in Alamosa.

Konnie and Kevin are from rural hospitals that would have been jeopardized by that half a billion in budget cuts.

Working together for families like the Humphreys, we prevented that.

To Konnie and Kevin, and to all our rural hospitals across the state, thank you for the lives you save and for the rural way of life that your care helps to preserve.

The same bill that saved rural hospitals freed up an additional 100 million dollars that are being used to leverage 1.9 billion dollars in new transportation projects around the state.

From Johnstown to the Four Corners, from Rifle to Pueblo, you will see investments in transportation infrastructure from this important bill. Some of the most significant improvements will be felt on our interstate highways.

Our bipartisan legislation allows us to fund projects to relieve pressure on I-25 and I-70, as well as many other locally controlled projects.
Mike Hillman is mayor of Idaho Springs, one of many Colorado communities where I-70 is a lifeline. He knows the importance of mobility to commerce, to law enforcement, to emergency services, to our Colorado way of life. He knows that a single pothole on Floyd Hill can hurt sales in Idaho Springs. In fact, it happened just a couple of weeks ago.

Mayor Hillman has seen the effects of improvements to I-70, and he is looking forward to more projects funded by the hospital provider fee fix. Mayor Hillman, thank you for joining us today!

In 2017 we also resolved a thorny issue that we hope will help address our housing needs by spurring more condo development. Our bipartisan legislation will help Colorado homeowners make informed decisions about construction defect claims while ensuring their ability to protect what for most of them is their single biggest investment -- their homes.

Our goal is to restore some balance to the real estate market and ease a housing crunch that has made home ownership unattainable for too many Coloradans.

This bill passed the General Assembly by a combined vote of 97 to 0. For what we can achieve when we check our egos at the door, roll up our sleeves and hammer out bipartisan solutions to problems facing Coloradans, I can think of no finer example than construction defects.

Well, maybe except equity in school funding.

Because of our work together last year, Colorado is the first state in the nation to fully address equitable local funding for all public school students.

In the 2018 session and beyond we must keep striving to eradicate the race- and income-related disparities that continue to exist in Colorado’s schools. The legislation we passed in 2017 prioritizes funding for Colorado kids who have been historically underserved, regardless of the type of school they attend.

It strikes a balance that maintains local control for school districts, ensures that funding is allocated based on student need, and creates greater transparency and accountability for charter schools.

Hospital funding, transportation investment, construction defects and school funding equity — these are issues that have vexed this legislature for decades. Tearing down roadblocks on these issues gave us some powerful momentum heading into the interim.

But today, we start this session with a different set of obstacles.

The most disturbing are the allegations of workplace harassment that have swept across the country, reaching into the entertainment industry, news organizations, Congress and more than a dozen state legislatures.

Including ours.

We must confront these issues head on and successfully reform the culture of the Capitol.

There is no place for harassment, hate speech or discrimination in this chamber.
As we begin to make changes here at the Capitol, each and every member of this body has a personal responsibility to do our part to create a safe and respectful workplace for all.

We must also reauthorize the Colorado Civil Rights Division, which protects Coloradans' freedom from discrimination based on age, race, gender, sexual orientation, disability, pregnancy, religion and ancestry.

And we can’t stop there. The time for cultural change is now.

There should be no double standard requiring women and people from underrepresented communities to feel that they have to work twice as hard and be twice as smart to make partner at their law firm, climb the corporate ladder or succeed in public service.

It is not lost on me that there are women in restaurants and hotels, immigrants in meatpacking plants and workers in factories who feel they must endure inappropriate behavior just to survive and feed their families.

Throughout my time in the legislature I have worked to encourage more women and people from underrepresented communities to enter public service. This work will be for naught unless we promote work environments where the arc of your career is determined by your hard work, qualifications, merit and skill.

The hurdles of harassment and discrimination faced by women, people of color and people with disabilities should have been leveled a long time ago, but it is crystal clear that these challenges persist today.

People in our country are speaking out like never before about harassment, sexism and discrimination.

Let our actions show that the intolerable will be tolerated no more.

On this and many other topics, it is imperative that we do the job we were sent here to do – to solve problems for Coloradans.

We have plenty of opportunities and plenty of challenges.

Members, Colorado’s population is growing by more than 180 people per day.

Some of the legislation we’ve passed in recent years has helped us absorb this influx.

We have promoted economic development and workforce development programs so that more Coloradans have the education and training they need to get the high-skill, high-tech jobs that our economy is now producing in great numbers.

Colorado overall has one of the strongest state economies in America. That’s wonderful because it means lots of opportunities for people in our state. But there are downsides.

Wages aren’t rising as fast as the overall economy. And the economy isn’t booming in every community in the state. Many areas of rural and small-town Colorado are treading water, or even drowning.
We need to ensure that communities outside the Front Range have the tools to compete in a global economy by providing more broadband service, more teachers and more medical services, just for starters.

And because getting to and from work shouldn’t be the hardest part of Coloradans’ daily routine, we have to repair and improve our overburdened roads and expand our transportation options to keep up with our growing population and economy.

Forecasts for the next budget indicate that state revenue is substantially exceeding previous estimates, giving us the ability to make new investments in key statewide priorities.

Let me be clear: transportation funding is a priority. Our Colorado students are also a priority. We will have the opportunity to address chronically low funding for K-12 and higher education.

During this session we will be reviewing every part of the state budget to assure that it balances the priorities and needs of the people of Colorado.

Growth has also driven up the cost of housing in many areas of Colorado. The American Dream includes being able to own a home.

For more and more middle-income Coloradans, and not just in the Denver area, home ownership is out of reach.

Many people feel like they are being pushed out of the very communities they grew up in.

And rent increases make it harder and harder to make ends meet. We need to take action to make renting more affordable and homeownership more attainable for Coloradans.

As we work together this session, we will also hear bipartisan proposals to allow more judicial discretion in criminal sentencing and to make evidence-based reforms that would make our criminal justice system more effective and save taxpayer dollars, while promoting public safety.

To confront an opioid epidemic raging across Colorado and the nation, we are bringing a package of bills to improve training for safe opioid prescribing and overdose prevention and increase access to residential and medication-assisted treatment, so that people who are struggling with substance use disorders have more tools to fight their addiction.

Lawmakers and public health officials, first responders and law enforcement will help us to defeat opioid addiction.

And make no mistake: The pharmaceutical companies that developed these wildly addictive and highly profitable drugs need to be a part of the solution as well.

No family is immune to addiction, including my own. In November I lost my cousin Juan at the young age of 40. He was smart and thoughtful and he loved to laugh and joke around. Some of my favorite memories are of camping with him or fishing together on my Grandpa’s boat on the Pueblo Reservoir. But for much of his life he struggled with substance abuse – alcohol and opioids.

Families across Colorado, including in this chamber, have heartbreaking stories of friends and relatives who have suffered from addiction. My thoughts and prayers are very much with all who have been touched by this epidemic. It is our responsibility to come together to tackle this issue.
Hard-working Coloradans deserve a secure retirement, but almost half of Coloradans have no employer-sponsored or personal retirement plan. We will see a bill this session to increase access to retirement plans for our friends and neighbors who have none.

A secure retirement must also be attainable for the 560,000 current or retired public servants – teachers who have taught us and our children, state troopers who have patrolled our highways and CDOT drivers who have plowed them – all those who have delivered essential services to the people of our state.

Steps must be taken to strengthen PERA, the state pension fund, to ensure that we honor the commitment we’ve made to our state and public-sector employees.

But it would be unfair to balance PERA solely on the backs of hard-working public servants. Likewise, slashing cost-of-living adjustments for retired state employees could put many of them deeper in the hole every time the cost of living rises. ?Our goals must include a PERA solution that ensures its long-term solvency while being fair to current employees and retirees.

We’ll also consider a variety of proposals to help Coloradans balance the responsibilities of their work and their families.

We can increase access to affordable child care, so fewer Colorado moms and dads are forced to choose between keeping a job or staying at home.

This isn’t just an issue for families. It’s an issue that impacts our entire economy.

We can improve family leave laws so more Coloradans can take paid time off to care for a sick parent or loved one without having to quit their jobs, or risk being fired.

We can also address the high cost of health care, especially in rural areas of Colorado where premiums are through the roof.

And we can provide additional protections to Colorado consumers.

For example, because corporations dictate the “fine print,” Coloradans sign away their rights almost every time they buy a product or service. When something goes wrong, irresponsible corporations need to be held accountable and consumers deserve fair processes that are not tilted against them.

Our legislative compass points us in one direction -- preserving and enhancing our esteemed Colorado way of life.

Our state is blessed with the most beautiful natural environment in America.

We must also have a government that works for everyone who works hard, not just the deep-pocketed and the well-connected.

A government that creates more opportunities for Coloradans to turn their hard work into economic security.

Members, our contribution to the greater good will increase every time we move toward giving all Coloradans who work hard the best possible chance to succeed.

Our solutions must be based not on party or politics, but on what will get Coloradans closer to achieving their dreams.

Now is not the time to rest on the triumphs of our 2017 session.
We have plenty more work to do on behalf of the Coloradans who sent us here.

We live in uncertain times. Sometimes it feels like our country is being pulled apart and that the very worst is bubbling up through the cracks.

But not in Colorado. And not in this chamber, where we must be a barrier to the forces of division.

We have always had our disagreements, and sometimes we cannot reconcile them. But most of the time we find our way to that most essential of Colorado values -- setting our differences aside to make real progress.

In those moments we find the best in ourselves by living up to what’s best about our state.

There’s still more that binds us together than will ever divide us.

That’s what we did last year, and I know it’s what we’ll do again this year.

It has been the honor of my life to serve as Colorado’s first Latina Speaker of the House and the only Latina speaker in the country.

I’m excited to resume our quest to make our Colorado way of life even richer in opportunity – fairer in how it rewards hard work – steadfast in demanding personal and corporate responsibility – and generous in fostering the freedom to succeed.

God bless our home -- Colorado and its people.

And members, let us never forget that we are their servants.

Thank you.

Minority Leader Neville addressed the members of the House of Representatives.

Madam Speaker, Madam Majority Leader, esteemed colleagues and honored guests: Welcome to the second regular session of the 71st General Assembly. I’d like to congratulate the newest members, Representatives Reyher and Roberts: Welcome to the pit…I mean chamber, to the chamber! DILLY DILLY. I believe I can speak for everyone in this room when I say that serving in the legislature is a truly unique experience; we look forward to working with you.

I would also like to take a moment to recognize the friends and family here whose support is so valuable to us all. As members, we are well aware of the personal sacrifice of time and energy this job requires, but our families also make sacrifices to support us and enable us to be successful. I want to personally thank my wife Kristi, and my daughters Mary Katelyn, Hannah and Lydia. Thank you for your support, I could not do this without you; I would not do this without you. Madam Speaker, Madam Majority Leader, if you think you I am difficult to deal with just remember my wife has had to put up with me since High School. Let’s give another round of applause to our family members here in attendance.
I want to take a moment to thank other members of executive committee for their work to revise the capitol’s sexual harassment policies. The state capitol has always been a distinguished place to work, and it should also be a welcoming and safe place for everyone. I perfectly understand and share a sense of outrage when we hear stories of bad behavior, but when accusations appear where the law is made, we must observe due process so that we fairly and objectively handle complaints and workplace issues. The new policies we have adopted and the additional HR resources we are providing will help ensure future issues are handled appropriately. My door is always open to anyone who might want to report an issue that makes working here problematic.

House Sessions during election years are always more politically charged than off-year sessions. It’s especially true this year given the high-profile statewide elections and the many candidates for those offices here today. I know several of you in this room are vying for positions that will influence the direction of our state as a whole. That said, and knowing how strongly I feel about serving Colorado, I think this is the best time to announce that … I too am throwing my name in for …… more road funding and government efficiency.

In all seriousness, the citizens of Colorado have elected us to solve various problems facing our state. And while we all know politics plays a role in the process, for the next 120 days our job is to focus on legislation to improve the lives of the citizens of our State. When we work together – as we did hundreds of times last year – we can meet that goal in spite of our political differences.

I read an interesting story the other day. The backdrop to the story involved the number of people coming to Colorado. Who can blame them?

But the story itself was about the large number of people leaving Colorado because Colorado is no longer affordable. Leaving because they see hours of their lives wasted in traffic. Leaving because the costs of home, auto and health insurance have soared. Leaving because all the beauty and adventure they came here to enjoy has been tainted by rising prices and stress. These issues are no different for those who’ve spent their whole lives here.

We want to make Colorado affordable. We want to make Colorado affordable and enjoyable again by the actions we take as legislators this session when it comes to: prioritizing funding for cleaner, safer roads and bridges; lowering the regulatory barriers that businesses, and especially new businesses encounter; enabling students and teachers to find success in education; legalizing affordable health insurance plans and providing consumer choice; we aim to do this while insuring our human rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness continue to be recognized. It costs a lot to live here, and costs have gone up. Having grown up on the Front Range, started a family and worked in a small business, I have witnessed with some dismay the rapid increase in the cost of living in Colorado. I am sure all of you can attest to this as well.

During the interim, Assistant Minority Leader Cole Wist and I, along with some other members, toured many parts of Colorado and took time to learn about some of the issues contributing to higher costs.

For example: we visited the Colorado National Speedway in Dacono and heard how new mandates and regulations are threatening the low-cost entertainment that thousands of families enjoy there; elsewhere we heard from small rural communities that are concerned about the lack of new housing and infrastructure; while visiting a visionary health care provider in Pueblo, we learned about a state computer program that is delaying critical Medicaid reimbursement payments to hospitals and providers; a recent study I saw found that a first-year teacher cannot afford to rent even a 1 bedroom apartment in four of the largest districts in our state.

The cost to buy or rent a home has increased by more than 100 percent over the last 10 years, the costs of auto, home and health insurance have increased exponentially, and the increasing cost of doing business is typically passed on to the consumer. The drip, drip, drip of paying for basic needs is draining people of the optimism and hope that should be natural for residents of this great state.

I raise these points because many of the laws we will debate this session could directly impact Colorado’s affordability. Government programs bring with them the baggage of unintended consequences.

Just as it’s possible for a person to bleed to death from a thousand small cuts, so it’s possible for a state to become unaffordable by a thousand small regulations.

At a time when our national economy is beginning to gain momentum and return to health, we must be very careful about adding new regulatory and legal burdens to our citizens; instead, we should work together to make our state affordable again. In this, we have a choice to make.

As Assistant Minority Leader Wist and I traveled this summer, we were regularly asked about the poor shape of our roads, the lack of lane miles, and the lack of funding for Colorado’s aging infrastructure. My response was as simple then as it is today: “we have enough money to fix our problems. We don’t have a revenue problem, we have a spending problem.

A few weeks ago the revenue forecast indicated we will have almost a Billion dollars more revenue than expected for fiscal year 2018-19. There is no reason why nearly all of this new revenue should not go to widening highways, adding lane miles throughout the state and rebuilding traditional infrastructure.

We believe we can build newer, safer roads and bridges without raising taxes.
If we can fix a problem that will make Colorado a more affordable and enjoyable place to live, why not do that? Why make Colorado even less affordable by imposing a new tax for ‘transportation’?

And while I’m on the topic of transportation, let me clarify something for those listening. In the past, when we used the word “transportation”, we understood, and most people understood, the word meant ‘roads and bridges’. Most Coloradans say better ‘roads’ should be a priority for the legislature, and when they hear us talking about ‘transportation’, they assume we’re talking about ‘roads’.

Unfortunately, that assumption is no longer true. As of last year, “transportation” doesn’t mean simply ‘roads and bridges’; instead, it now means “state tax dollars for buses, light rail, heavier rail, bike paths and special lanes for pogo sticks and the like.” The point is, I now use the phrase ‘roads and bridges’ because I want voters to know what I mean, and to understand where our priorities lie.
Members of our caucus will be carrying a bill that will fix our roads, without raising taxes. It will be a perfect opportunity to show our constituencies exactly where roads rank as a priority. I can tell you right now roads are my top priority. Is it yours?

I know some of you may doubt we can prioritize existing revenue for roads. Some may ask what we are willing to cut. But members, this is not Washington D.C., and decreasing the governor’s proposed increases is not a cut.

To everyone listening: we can fix our roads and fund essential state services with existing revenue. Members, the Governor’s budget proposal is $1.09 billion larger than last year, and $10 billion larger than 2009 when Governor Hickenlooper first took office. And we’ve just come into an additional $1 billion in revenue. My question to the members in this room who think we need more from the taxpayers is this: “how much is enough”?

Recent news reports suggest that my colleagues across the aisle are already looking at the “many unmet needs” in our state. As the saying goes, ‘when all you have is a hammer, every problem looks like a nail’ … and when you’re committed to a big and bigger government, every problem calls for more taxes, programs, and spending.

But if you think like me, we don’t need more revenue – we need more restraint; we need more common sense when it comes how we spend taxpayers’ money. In this, we certainly have a choice to make.

Concerning Education … Not only are we obliged by the state constitution to pass a balanced budget every year, we’re also required to provide money for a public education. And the fact is, we’ve provided a lot: over the past 12 years, total spending has gone from $3.8 billion a year to $5.6 billion a year, an increase of 45 percent; General fund spending on K-12 education has gone from $2.9 billion a year to $4.1 billion, an increase of 42 percent; even factoring in inflation, we’re spending 24 percent more money than we were a dozen years ago: and what are we getting for the money?

We’ve spent a great fortune on K-12 education, but we haven’t gotten a great result. The time has come for us to have an open mind to new approaches to education because it is obvious, that what we’ve been doing isn’t working.

Instead of spending that fortune to empower bureaucracies, why don’t we try to empower students and parents?

One of the biggest accomplishments from last session was establishing equity for funding charter schools. I want to thank all of the members who helped craft that law. We will work with Democrats on any bill that offers real hope for educational success.

Nobody wins when children lose. We can do better. In this, we have a choice to make. In the land of the free and the home of the brave, there’s a deep well of compassion for those who may have fallen on hard times. At present, taxpayers in the state of Colorado along with other American taxpayers make a gift worth several thousand dollars a year available to these people in the form of Medicaid.
We don’t begrudge them for our help, yet while it is free or nearly free to recipients, it isn’t cheap: in fiscal year 2004-05 we spent $3 billion on healthcare; in fiscal year 2016-17 – just a dozen years later – we spent $9 billion – a 300 percent increase; General Fund spending on health care increased 111 percent in that period.

Today just over a quarter of the people living in our state are on Medicaid. Since 2008-09, that figure has risen 220 percent. But studies demonstrate that Medicaid is not a particularly efficient or effective way to distribute health care; to be sure, the most significant changes to the system must happen in Washington, but it is our goal, our ambition, to insure that those who need Medicaid get it, while we also insure that it is reserved for the truly needy.

Our hope is that as our economy grows, and good jobs become more plentiful, people will get health care at work or that we, as a legislature work to legalize affordable insurance plans that citizens freely select. Improving this system means progress in the quest to make Colorado more affordable.

In the wake of recent tragedies in our nation, some people have renewed their demands for stricter gun control. Members, gun control becomes the focus because guns are the tools evil people have used to commit the atrocities. But guns are simply that, a tool, and just as they can be used for evil, they are tools in the hands of good people to defend themselves. New laws will not prevent evil people from acquiring guns nor will they prevent further crimes against the innocent. Rather they will rob the innocent of the ability to defend themselves and their families.

This session, I urge you not to accept the misguided dogma that gun control laws will stop mass killings. For those who disagree, let me share an experience that demonstrated this dark reality. As a veteran who served in Iraq, I can tell you the frequency of mass killings during my time there was shocking. We fought an enemy that valued no life, and sought to harm and destroy by any means possible. Sadly, no amount of gun control would have saved lives, what evil lacked in guns it made up for in other forms of destruction. It was evil, finding any way available to hurt society. That evil exists everywhere, sadly even in our own communities. We need to ensure citizens have every means possible to fight back, and protect innocent life.

Members, our Constitutional rights are what define this nation and our state. We have the right to free speech, the right to freely exercise our religion, but above all we have the right to life. Without it, “liberty” and “the pursuit of happiness” are empty slogans. The American people are increasingly ‘pro-life’, in no small measure because of the science that enables us to watch the development of the unborn. I pray this enlightened attitude makes its way to the Capitol. This issue of life shouldn’t be political, but until it’s not, I’ll work to defend the right to life for the youngest, and the oldest, among us.

Another element in our drive to make Colorado more affordable is changes we’ll propose to the budget process we use here at the Capitol.

Our current process allows each chamber less than a week to complete the most constitutionally important task of the session. We are the only state that compiles a budget this way, and while it might have been the right approach at one time, we believe it is time to reevaluate the process.

Our friends on the other side will undoubtedly be happy to know that the changes we’re proposing are non-partisan in nature. We’ve already had several helpful conversations along those lines.
I won’t go into great detail here, but suffice to say the details rest on two basic and related principles. We believe that the 6 members of the Joint Budget Committee are in many ways model legislators. Representatives Rankin, Hamner and Young devote significant time to the job. All of us here recognize that for them, public service translates into personal sacrifice as they labor untold hours to help us all. But our overreliance on the few is robbing us of the wisdom of the many. We would like to see more people involved in the process.

We want to plan ahead and require forecasts from each department. No major expense or upgrade should be a surprise to us, we should know years in advance. I look forward to more conversations with all of you on this topic.

Members, this session we have a choice to make. Are we going to choose to let our state government continue to expand at the expense of industry, commerce, and liberty, or are we going to look for ways to help lower the cost of doing business in Colorado, let the free market inspire more innovation, and find ways to make Colorado affordable again? Do we move forward with policies and oversight that will make Colorado more affordable, or do we simply advocate for higher taxes and more spending? Will we plant fiscal bombs into our budget in the form of costly new programs that will burden us and our children for decades, and put us on the road to bankruptcy and chaos already forged by states like California and Illinois? We’ve tried the bigger government approach, and it doesn’t work. It creates more inequality, more dependence, and more social division. Will we choose to prioritize funding to make a significant step toward safer, cleaner roads and bridges, or will we ask for higher taxes or fees to fund mass transit that cannot pay for itself?

Members, we proved last session that we can put our differences aside, work together, and get things done for the people of our great state. Let’s build on that progress and make this another successful year for the people of Colorado.

Thank you and God bless.

And, of course, to my amazing wife Robin, who couldn’t be here today

To my incredible son, Teddy, and to all of my fellow Coloradans:

We have so much to be thankful for.

We thank our veterans and active service members and their families for their courage and sacrifice to the cause of freedom.

We thank the members of the Colorado National Guard, more than six-hundred of whom were deployed overseas last year.

We thank our Department of Public Safety, along with local first responders, who accept the daily dangers of their work... as routine.

We mourn alongside the families of those we’ve lost:

Deputy Sheriff Zack Parrish.
Firefighters Mike Freeman, Brett Anderson and Lieutenant Jim Schaefer.

Sergeant First Class Stephen Cribben, Special Warfare Operator Petty Officer 1st Class Remington Peters and Sergeant First Class Mihail Golin.

We’re here, as public servants, to make this place we love, stay a place we love; a place we can be proud of.

That’s called Topophilia — it’s our love of place...and reflects our love of Colorado.

It’s the growling of tractors in Brush’s 4th of July parade.

It’s the smell of barbecue at the little league ballfields in Sterling on a summer night.

If you’ve seen a sunrise over the plains...drank a cold beer after a day of hunting...or consider “Rocktober” a real month...you’ve experienced it.

Heck, it was a carriage ride up Pikes Peak that inspired Katharine Bates to write America the Beautiful.

She later wrote:

“We stood at last on that Gate-of-Heaven summit...and gazed in wordless rapture over the far expanse of mountain ranges...and the sea-like sweep of plain.”

This love of place...colors everything we do.

We are a community thousands of years in the making...

Starting with the Paleo-Indians, followed by more recent inhabitants including the Arapaho and Cheyenne...and Utes.

Renewed by the first Hispanic settlers...the hopes of the 59ers...the coal-stained faces of the next pioneers...and the sweat of those who built train tracks...bridges...and tunnels...and stayed to start families and build communities.

It was the Germans, Japanese and Irish...immigrants from countless countries who planted the seeds of entrepreneurship.

And our immigrants today who continue to harvest those seeds.

As President Reagan said about the shining city on the hill: “the doors were open to anyone with the will and the heart to get there.”

Popular culture has tried to sell us a tall tale that Colorado’s history is only about rugged individualism and conflict.

But cooperation has always been the defining part of our DNA.

Trappers used to go out in packs of ten or twenty because teamwork was safer and more productive.
There were a lot more barn raisings than there were shootouts.

Mountain residents at the turn of the century would leave their cabins unlocked and stocked with food in case a weary traveler in the area hit a storm.

Those travelers were honor-bound to clean the cabin and restock it later.

Sometimes in this building we stray from this Colorado way.

We don’t always restock the cabin. We don’t always listen.

Issues can get tangled in a web of special interests.

Trust in our government, at every level, is a critical part of love of place.

Not that our mountains and plains aren’t a big part of our communal affection, and sports teams as well.

But I believe love of place is a key ingredient of most economic development.

And people aren’t eager to make the investments that all prosperity demands, if they don’t trust the people who lead them, and trust that those leaders will work together.

In this past legislative session, we did just that.

We finally fixed the Hospital Provider Fee.

We now have a little more sanity in our budget.

And hospitals in rural Colorado that would have closed, continue to serve thousands of patients.

Jennifer Riley, an executive at Memorial Regional Health in Craig, told us, “You helped keep our doors open. Thank you.”

Last year, we reformed construction defects. And slowly, we’re building more condos.

We delivered a modest deposit on our broadband initiative.

And today, a high-schooler in Julesburg is taking remote business classes so perhaps one day he can start his own company.

For the first time we used marijuana taxes for a homeless initiative. We helped people save their own lives.

Last year wasn’t always pretty…progress isn’t always painless…

But it was the most impactful, bipartisan legislative session since the great recession.

We reminded everyone: the collaborative Colorado way is the best way.

When we’re frustrated, we listen harder. When we’re stumped, we turn to facts and data.
We try to bring the best ideas to the table.

We don’t define ourselves by those who oppose us. As any restaurateur knows, there’s no margin in having enemies.

That’s basically our slogan.

And I’m grateful to have been your friend these last seven years.

Most of the time.

If you haven’t lived in Colorado long, you might be tempted to think that the state you see today was inevitable. But when we first met in this room, our economy was in disarray. We had just ended the worst year for job seekers in generations:

- We were twenty-sixth in unemployment and fortieth in job growth;
- Nearly 400,000 Coloradans were unemployed or underemployed;
- And tens of thousands more had dropped out of the workforce.

So we did what Coloradans do. We rolled up our sleeves and got to work. We hosted fifty meetings and took comments from more than thirteen thousand people in all sixty-four counties.

Colorado told us what they needed to shape their communities across the state from the bottom up.

With this input, we created a new blueprint for a new economy.

We cut red tape; promoted the state not just to tourists, but as a pro business destination for aspiring entrepreneurs; championed innovation and technology; and made it easier for small-businesses to get a loan.

The Colorado Blueprint made it easier for people to create and grow their own businesses, and helped make Colorado a place that loves entrepreneurs.

By almost any measure, we’ve become one of the best places for business in America.

We’re one of the most active and healthiest, one of the best states to raise a family and make a living.

We shattered unemployment records, tourism records, and hosted world-class cultural and music events.

The state has become a bridge between nonprofits and the private sector. We’ve leveraged a quarter of a billion dollars through public-private partnerships for community initiatives that have touched millions of lives.

We’re putting our faith in people like seven-year old Ashley Scott from Colorado Springs. Two years ago, she started a holiday benefit and purchased blankets, socks and gloves for the homeless. This past year, she partnered with twenty businesses, her school, and the community to do even more.

She said “doing this makes me feel happy...the homeless need a Merry Christmas, too.”
Ashley: we’re grateful for you. Please stand.

It’s a shame you’re not twenty-three years older. You could run for governor!

Everyone else is doing it.

We’ve swelled our ranks in health care with 600,000 more enrollees while prioritizing value.

We lifted families out of poverty with a focus on two-generation solutions.

Our family planning initiative has helped reduce the abortion rate among teens in Colorado by sixty-four percent.

We’ve become the leading state for aerospace employment…

When our cyber security center reaches full capacity, we’ll have thousands of people a year getting certificates.

We were the first state to legalize recreational marijuana while creating a roadmap for other states.

By the way -- we’re not wild about Washington telling us what’s best for us. We expect the federal government will respect the will of Colorado voters.

We charted our trails, expanded broadband to almost one-hundred thousand rural homes, lured countless businesses large and small…and revitalized dozens of main streets.

We provided wraparound services for thousands of people -- like Sarah Middlebrooks, who completed the Fort Lyon program...found permanent housing...and now maintains her own small business while pursuing her associate’s degree.

She couldn’t make it because of an accident over the weekend. Sarah if you’re watching, we wish you a speedy recovery.

We created the country’s first and best methane regulations; a water plan that secures food production; protected the sage grouse from being listed as an endangered species; and developed an electric vehicle infrastructure spanning seven thousand miles.

We cut or modified almost half of our rules and regulations. And in doing so, saved businesses nearly eight million dollars and over two million hours last year alone.

Two million hours!

And we measured our progress on everything that matters.

We trained thousands of employees who completed six-hundred LEAN process improvements...created more value for Coloradans and won several awards.

We’re one of the most innovative and transparent state governments in America.
My mother used to say: “use it up, wear it out, make it do, or do without!”

Those are pretty good words for a state to live by. Along the journey, our spirit was tested by floods and fires and inexplicable loss.

On the other side of these tests, we became stronger.

By nearly every measure, Colorado is perhaps stronger now than at any point in history.

Our economy is ten times more diverse than when I was laid off in 1986. We developed a well-deserved reputation for innovation...and welcomed the several hundred thousand “pilgrims” who have moved here from elsewhere, allowing them to experience, firsthand, just why we love this place so much.

This is an era for the record books.

But we can’t rest on our laurels.

As one farmer told me “in Colorado, you can be a rainfall away from a record crop, but a hailstorm away from losing it all.”

So we will not let up. We won’t stop to enjoy the view. We have a lot to accomplish in the next 119 days:

• We need to find the right solution to PERA’s unfunded liability.
• We need to pass legislation to safely cap orphan wells.
• We need to halt the opioid epidemic that continues to destroy lives and families, and disproportionately affects our rural communities.
• We need to enact a K-12 and Infrastructure Funding Plan...
• ...that will help make the Water Plan a reality.
• We need legislation and funds to ensure full broadband buildout in rural areas.
• And we need to protect our rural communities by addressing the intense, negative impact the Gallagher amendment has had, and will have, in the future.

It’s a commonsense agenda.

And it’s an opportunity for us to continue showing the country how it’s done...that politics need not be a blood sport...that we need not wage war between the “blue team” and the “red team”...and that dedicated and caring people – even those who may disagree at times – can still achieve important goals together.

It's also an opportunity to recommit ourselves to honor and respect our colleagues and uphold the dignity of our offices. Let's pledge here and now that we will not tolerate sexual harassment in Colorado.

In the early hours of the last century...Theodore Roosevelt said of the United States:

"It should be the growing nation with a future that takes the long look ahead."
Let’s take a long look...and think together about the kind of place Colorado must become so that we can pass our love of place onto the next generation.

Today, more Coloradans are working than ever before. The Colorado secret is out, our in-migration to the front range is the envy of the nation.

But our rural areas are not experiencing the same boom.

We need to create the right ecosystem.

It’s like the bristlecone pine, unique to the West. It lives in a harsh but stunning high altitude environment...the perfect conditions for it to thrive.

It may grow more slowly than the spruce, but it is sturdy...resilient...and yes...beautiful.

Most people in rural areas are filled with a love of place. I had lunch with fourteen Future Farmers of America almost a year ago. I asked these young adults how many would choose to return to their small hometowns if they could make a living. Every hand went up. But one young woman later noted, “If I came back with someone I loved, they’d need a job too.”

We need more good jobs in rural Colorado.

Many outdoor recreation and manufacturing companies...sports enthusiasts and adventurers from around the world...seek out dynamic rural areas.

And that’s great.

But some of our best entrepreneurs are already in rural communities.

Seven years ago, Robert Graves, a fourth-generation dairy farmer in Bellvue CO, started making an Australian style yogurt...which you can now buy in all fifty states. Noosa yogurt is in all 50 states and has annual revenues of over two-hundred million dollars.

Robert, thank you for joining us.

But to reinvigorate more of our smaller communities, we need to incentivize companies and rural entrepreneurs...or the urban ones who want to be rural...to take a chance and start a business where they’re needed the most.

That’s why we just announced a ten-million dollar Rural Venture Fund to focus equity investment and access to capital in rural parts of the state...similar to what they’ve done along the front range.

Startup Colorado is a five-year initiative to organize and convene startups around the state...supported by Brad Feld and other top entrepreneurial leaders.

We’re expanding our Blueprint and Rural Jumpstart economic development programs.

Maybe we need to expand the Jumpstart incentive to seven years?

We’re backstopping loans for rural markets that allow businesses and startups to get more access to capital...maybe we should do more?
We need to make it easier for anyone to love any part of Colorado and start a business here.

Companies need affordable, quality health care.

We have some of the most expensive counties for health care in the country...and fourteen counties only have one option on the exchange – all of them are in rural areas.

We need our friends in Washington to finally move past the tired fight over the Affordable Care Act. It’s not perfect, and we need to strengthen it in lots of ways -- but it has helped reduce our uninsured rate by half. 600,000 Coloradans -- many from rural parts of the state -- now have coverage who didn’t before. It has helped save lives.

However, we all can agree that America spends too much on healthcare and gets too little for it.

This is an economic argument as much as a health related one.

The year before the Affordable Care Act, two-thirds of bankruptcies were caused by medical debt...that’s over 100,000 individuals and families! -- a disproportionate number in rural areas.

The following year, the ACA helped reduce that number by sixty percent. More than 60,000 families...didn’t go through the trauma of bankruptcy.

When we’re secure in our health care, we’re more likely to take a chance and start a business.

Every economist and anyone with a smartphone would agree: our economy is undergoing tectonic shifts with the acceleration of automation and artificial intelligence.

Yet today, in almost every part of Colorado, zip code still determines your educational outcome.

And that determines your economic outcome. This needs to change.

We re-convened the Education Leadership Council to build a long-term vision and path forward. It’s nonpartisan and comprehensive, with a focus on the building blocks of a child’s success from early childhood to workforce and beyond.

We’re pumping an additional one hundred million dollars above enrollment and inflation into our schools this year, and adding ten million dollars to address teacher shortages in rural areas.

We also proposed repeating this year’s thirty million dollars to rural schools next year.

Even with these increases, we remain roughly three quarters of a billion dollars behind the funding Colorado voters placed in our constitution nearly two decades ago.
We need to be honest with ourselves and the voters...this number won’t go down much without their help. And if we are being really blunt, it hurts rural Colorado more than the front range.

But to create the kind of workforce that will keep our state at the forefront of the new economy, we need to go beyond the funding issue – we need to rethink and retool our approach. We need to transition from a degree-based education system to one that also includes skill-based training.

Experts tell us over sixty percent of our kids in school today will not get a 4-year degree.

Careers and professions by the dozens will be swept away in the coming decades.

But new industries will emerge at an equally frantic rate. We will need not just engineers but huge numbers of technicians and analysts with new sets of skills.

We need to get more kids learning skills that matter.

We need to do it yesterday.

That’s why we’re working with the state board of education to expose more students to coding in middle and high school.

Why not give those schools with a foreign language requirement the choice to offer coding as an alternative language?

But let’s not fall into the trap of instituting a bunch of coding classes and thinking we’ve solved the problem.

We need flexible solutions that can adapt to what employers need tomorrow, not just what they need today.

This means training and apprenticeships.

Working closely with business and education leaders, in a public-private partnership, Colorado is igniting an apprenticeship renaissance with Careerwise.

We’re connecting companies, talent, K-12 schools, community colleges and training centers. We have youth apprentices in pilot programs at thirty-one schools in four districts and we’re partnering with forty businesses.

This isn’t your grandparents’ version of apprenticeship.

This is on-the-job, skills-training in industries, like business operations, health care, and advanced manufacturing.

Within a decade we want to see twenty-thousand students per year receiving college credit, developing skills, and learning how business works.

Apprenticeships are designed to grow hand in glove with Skillful, a digital platform, developed with LinkedIn and the Markle Foundation, that will help connect job seekers and employers in this new economy.
Last summer, Microsoft Philanthropies announced a twenty-six million dollar investment in Skillful to expand these efforts...the largest grant in the history of the foundation.

Projections of all kinds suggest we will fall well short in trained workers...in every industry in the next decade.

We need all hands on deck. We need to expand our training programs and tailor them for people with disabilities and the incarcerated soon to be released.

There’s a lot to do, but Colorado has become an early model for the country.

I presented our apprenticeship and Skillful programs to dozens of executives from some of the the nation’s largest foundations, who are putting their considerable weight behind solving challenges of the twenty-first century, and building a skills-based workforce.

Our work continues when it comes to higher education.

Last fall, the Colorado Commission on Higher Education presented our updated higher education master plan. We need to increase post secondary credentials by tens of thousands in the next eight years, and erase equity gaps.

Over the last seven years, we’ve added more than 250 million dollars to support higher education...and we need to do more to help these schools succeed and expand.

They are the engines of our economy.

Yet we’re still seeing a seemingly continuous inflation of tuition, fees and books.

We need to redouble efforts around costs, collaboration, and student success.

Purdue University hasn’t raised tuition for resident undergraduates in the last six years.

Ambitious moves like that will take some flexibility from this building, too.

We’ve created a strong foundation for growth.

But no matter how hard we work to incentivize potential and capitalize on this topophilia...Coloradans won’t continue to love this place or build their lives here, if they can’t move around easily, afford housing and stay connected.

It’s about companies like Mayfly, which builds equipment for anglers, and worked with the state to move all their manufacturing to Montrose. They wanted a rural environment with strong broadband.

They’re training local workers, while building an outdoor rec center and business park…

Because they? believe their? business should grow side-by-side with the community.

David Dragoo please stand.
It’s great news for rural communities that many jobs can be done anywhere -- but it requires good internet. We need to giddy up!

We went from sixty percent to eighty percent coverage in rural Colorado in the last two years. We’ll be at eighty-five percent by the end of this year and one-hundred percent by 2020.

We need your support to get to the finish line...

One of the most essential pieces of infrastructure in our economy is our natural landscape...our clean air and water...the things everyone thinks about when they hear the word “Colorado.”

It’s one reason why companies of all sorts have been drawn to this place we love.

And the reason why the outdoor recreation show is coming to Denver in a couple weeks along with its one-hundred and ten million dollars in economic impact.

It’s why many of our farmers and ranchers, who live on the land, came here, and stay here.

But the responsibility to be good stewards doesn’t only fall on rural parts of the state. It rests with all of us.

Xcel has submitted a plan to close two coals plants in Pueblo. This will clean our air and lower costs for consumers - and lead to greater investments that support twenty-first century careers.

What is it the critics don’t like? Is it the cleaner air or the lower utility bills?

Clean air matters.

Xcel is also working with Evraz Rocky Mountain Steel -- one of the cleanest steel plants in the world -- to move toward renewable energy while protecting Pueblo’s future as a center for steel manufacturing. We need everyone’s support to make this a reality.

Pueblo is known as steel city, but soon it could also be “solar and wind city.”

Most of us agree that science shows climate change is happening at a significant rate in large part because of humans. But even those of us who disagree on climate change can agree that we need to protect the Colorado environment our grandchildren will grow to love…with a strong economy where they can find jobs.

This includes protecting our water for agriculture. If we don’t implement our water plan, rural agricultural communities will be hit first and hardest. We live in a state of open markets. They can never afford to match what front range homeowners pay for domestic water. Having a sustainable source of food--no matter what happens around the world--is an essential foundation for the future of our state. We’re one of the great food exporting states and that’s a resource we should continue to invest in...rather than put at risk.
The Colorado Water Plan provides a framework, but doesn’t include all the funding for the last billion dollars over the next thirty years...we need the support of the General Assembly.

But the cost of water has been a small part of rising new housing prices along much of the front range and elsewhere.

It strains one’s ability to love where they live when they can’t afford the price of a home or even rent near the jobs and communities they care about. While many conversations around affordable housing are confined to the front range, the Colorado Housing and Finance Authority has supported housing projects all across Colorado. They’ve invested over thirteen billion dollars across the state. We should increase our affordable housing tax credits by fifty percent -- these are matching funds that work only with local investment.

If we believe private enterprise is part of the solution, CHFA is one of the answers.

I’m forgetting some other type of infrastructure...what is it?

OH right, the multi-billion dollar hole in our roads.

It’s about connecting to our communities, our jobs, our markets, and the people we love.

And good infrastructure creates good jobs.

These are facts:

Fort Morgan voters said “yes” to raising their sales tax, so they could get to work repairing their city streets.

And El Paso County voted for new lanes on I-25.

Coloradans WANT to invest in our quality of life--because of our affection for Colorado.

And allow us to pass that affection confidently on to the next generation.

That’s why communities are easing traffic with bike lanes and creating walkable areas. And in response to demand from southwest Colorado and other rural parts of the state, Bustang is expanding routes.

It’s part of why we partnered with Panasonic to see how we can link vehicles with smart highways and save lives…

...futuristic transportation companies like Arrivo, Otto, and Hyperloop One are making Colorado a testing ground…

But we can’t innovate our way out of traffic jams without the resources.

Coloradans spend hundreds of dollars a year extra per car on repairs and operating costs as a result of bad road conditions. We waste dozens of hours a year in traffic.
The cost of asphalt and concrete continue to rise; yet we haven’t increased the state gas tax in over twenty-five years.

We’ve been driving on a flat tire for a quarter century.

All while Utah raised their gas tax twice.

Not only do we under-fund maintenance by more than two-hundred million dollars per year, but we also have a project list of nine billion dollars. Total needs are estimated to be twenty-five billion dollars by 2040.

And that’s all on top of CDOT’s existing budget.

Last year, we committed 1.9 billion dollars in financing for roads when we addressed the Hospital Provider Fee. Soon, thanks to Senate Bill 267, we will see a one-hundred million dollar per year commitment in General Fund revenue towards those roads.

Last week we proposed another 148 million dollars from increased revenues.

And then, in the coming years, our proposal for future revenues will continue to dedicate more than 100 million dollars per year on top of that - also from the General Fund.

That’s progress. But it still won’t be enough to solve our transportation problem, and it doesn’t devote a single dollar to our city and county roads and bridges.

We need to be even more ambitious. It’s time we look at a long term solution with a sustainable funding source.

There’s broad agreement -- across party lines.

Coloradans deserve the opportunity to vote on whether we need new resources and where they should come from.

It’s time to go to the voters.

It’s tempting to surround ourselves with people who agree with us...it’s easy to create an echo chamber…

But we’re investing in the unglamorous effort it takes to listen.

Because it works.

In ancient Greece, conversations about the great disagreements of the day took place around big dinners and lasted days. Strangers were welcome.

Conversation would slow down, and unlike a cable TV debate or tweet storm, it allowed a spectrum of viewpoints to emerge.

People invested their time in each other.

Often...fueled by wine. Here in Colorado, we’ll stick with beer.

We need to get back to that point.
We need to rebuild these places of convergence. So I’ll offer up my office.

We have 364 days left in this administration…

That’s an eternity for compromise. It only took eighty-seven days for thirty-nine delegates to create Colorado’s Constitution!

And that included: a bill of rights, three-branch state government, bicameral legislature, elected governor, and supreme, district, and county courts.

It’s an eternity…but the issues are fiercely urgent. As Martin Luther King Jr. said: “tomorrow is today.”

When we invest in education today, we make our kids more competitive tomorrow. When we modernize our infrastructure…we lay the groundwork for the jobs of the future. When we stand up for common sense approaches to health care and get more people covered, we lower costs and save lives for years to come.

These core priorities aren’t always glamorous. They don’t always get the big headlines.

But that’s the Colorado WAY.

This is the Colorado that has lured generations from across the country and around the world. It’s why we swell with pride whenever we tell outsiders where we’re from…and why they smile in response.

It’s what Walter Cheesman, Claude Boettcher and Bruce Randolph worked towards…and what Emily Griffith invested her life in.

There’s no place like it

David Mason, who became our poet laureate in 2010, said it best:

“Some come out West to beat the odds and find out the sky’s the limit.
Some simply stare--no end to it,
The way you can love a land
And quite a few of the people in it
Give me the sage in sunlight, warm
Even in winter. Give me the moonlit snow
Give me the book cliffs and the farms,
The wild flowers of Colorado.”

One of the greatest joys of my life was pitching in baseball games in high school.

You have to be so focused and every atom of your being has to be intent on throwing that pitch to the perfect spot.

But you’ll never succeed without a great team behind you.

The joy of these past seven years has been every bit as intense…and just as sweet.
I’ve been blessed to work with an incredible group of people -- I’d like my cabinet and senior staff to stand and be recognized.

And I include all of you as part of this team…

You are an incredible group as well.

Thank you for your partnership...your friendship...and for deepening our love of this wonderful, wild place.

(b) SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH HAS DEMONSTRATED THAT NEWBORN SCREENING NOT ONLY SAVES LIVES AND IMPROVES DEVELOPMENTAL OUTCOMES BUT ALSO CONTRIBUTES TO COST SAVINGS FOR FAMILIES, HEALTH CARE SYSTEMS, AND THE STATE;
(c) NEWBORN SCREENING INCLUDES CONDITIONS FOR WHICH DIAGNOSIS AND TREATMENT MUST BE IMPLEMENTED IN A TIMELY MANNER IN ORDER TO ACHIEVE MAXIMUM BENEFIT FOR THE CHILD;
(d) NEWBORN SCREENING IS AN APPROPRIATE PUBLIC HEALTH FUNCTION TO PROVIDE NECESSARY EDUCATIONAL SERVICES TO HEALTH CARE PROVIDERS, FAMILIES, AND COMMUNITIES SO THAT APPROPRIATE RESOURCES AND INFORMATION ARE AVAILABLE;"
(e) Newborn screening is a public health function that identifies newborns at risk of certain conditions or hearing loss, as well as newborns who do not receive screening, and appropriately connects them to care;

(f) An effective newborn screening program is dependent upon a strong system of education and coordination among primary care providers, hospitals, specialty care providers, patient and family support organizations, public health laboratory staff, and public health professionals;

(a) (g) State policy regarding newborn screening and genetic counseling and education should be made with full public knowledge, in light of expert opinion, and should be constantly reviewed to consider changing medical knowledge and ensure full public protection;

(b) (h) Participation of persons in genetic counseling programs in this state should be wholly voluntary and that all information obtained from persons involved in such programs or in newborn screening programs in the state should be held strictly confidential.

(i) Hearing loss occurs in newborn infants more frequently than any other health condition for which newborn infant screening is required;

(k) Early detection, early intervention, and treatment of hearing loss in a child are highly effective in facilitating a child's healthy development in a manner consistent with the child's age and cognitive ability;

(l) Children with hearing loss who do not receive early intervention and treatment frequently require special educational services, which, for the vast majority of children in the state with hearing needs, are publicly funded; and

(m) Appropriate testing and identification of newborn infants with hearing loss will facilitate early intervention and treatment and will therefore serve the public purposes of promoting the healthy development of children and reducing the need for additional public expenditures.".

(II) ANOTHER FACILITY OR PROVIDER.

(b) The rules must include a requirement that the birthing facility include the results of the hearing screening in the electronic medical record of the newborn. The information system required in subsection (7) of this section must allow the results of outpatient rescreenings to be reported to the department and to the parent or guardian of the newborn.

(9) (a) The state board of health shall promulgate rules to establish and maintain appropriate follow-up services for newborns at risk of hearing loss as well as newborns who fail to receive screening. The follow-up services must include identification of newborns at risk for hearing loss, coordination among medical and audiology providers and families, connecting newborns to timely intervention, appropriate referrals to specialists for follow-up and diagnostic testing, and additional duties as determined by the department."

(I) The governmental entity may provide the security breach notification in electronic or other form that directs the person whose personal information has been breached to promptly change his or her password and security question or answer, as applicable, or to take other steps appropriate to protect the online account with the person or business and all other online accounts for which the person whose personal information has been breached that uses the same username or e-mail address and password or security question or answer.

(d) The breach of encrypted or otherwise secured personal information must be disclosed in accordance with this section if the confidential process, encryption key, or other means to decipher the secured information was also acquired in the security breach or was reasonably believed to have been acquired.
(e) A governmental entity that is required to provide notice pursuant to this subsection (2) is prohibited from charging the cost of providing such notice to individuals.

(h) Notice required by this section may be delayed if a law enforcement agency determines that the notice will impede a criminal investigation and the law enforcement agency has notified the governmental entity that operates in Colorado not to send notice required by this section. Notice required by this section must be made in good faith, without unreasonable delay but not later than thirty days after the law enforcement agency determines that notification will no longer impede the investigation and has notified the governmental entity that it is appropriate to send the notice required by this section.

(i) If a governmental entity is required to notify more than one thousand Colorado residents of a security breach pursuant to this section, the governmental entity shall also notify, without unreasonable delay, all consumer reporting agencies that compile and maintain files on consumers on a nationwide basis, as defined by the federal "Fair Credit Reporting Act", 15 U.S.C. sec. 1681a(p), of the anticipated date of the notification to the residents and the approximate number of residents who are to be notified. Nothing in this subsection (2)(i) requires the governmental entity to provide to the consumer reporting agency the names or other personal information of security breach notice recipients. This subsection (2)(i) does not apply to a person who is subject to Title V of the federal "Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act", 15 U.S.C. sec. 6801 et seq.

(j) A waiver of these notification rights or responsibilities is void as against public policy.

(k) (I) The governmental entity that was breached shall provide notice of any security breach to the Colorado attorney general as soon as practicable but not later than thirty days after the date of determination that a security breach occurred if the security breach is reasonably believed to have affected five hundred Colorado residents or more, unless the investigation determines that the misuse of information about a Colorado resident has not occurred and is not likely to occur.

(II) The breach of encrypted or otherwise secured personal information must be disclosed in accordance with this section if the confidential process, encryption key, or other means to decipher the secured information was also acquired or was reasonably believed to have been acquired in the security breach.

(3) Procedures deemed in compliance with notice requirements. (a) Pursuant to this section, a governmental entity that maintains its own notification procedures as part of an information security policy for the treatment of personal information and whose procedures are otherwise consistent with the timing requirements of this section is in compliance with the notice requirements of this section if the governmental entity notifies affected Colorado customers in accordance with its policies in the event of a security breach; except that notice to the attorney general is still required pursuant to subsection (2)(k) of this section.
(b) A GOVERNMENTAL ENTITY THAT IS REGULATED BY STATE OR FEDERAL LAW AND THAT MAINTAINS PROCEDURES FOR A SECURITY BREACH PURSUANT TO THE LAWS, RULES, REGULATIONS, GUIDANCES, OR GUIDELINES ESTABLISHED BY ITS STATE OR FEDERAL REGULATOR IS IN

SECTION. IN THE CASE OF A CONFLICT BETWEEN THE TIME PERIOD FOR

for injunctive relief to enforce the provisions of this section.

a request from the governor to prosecute a particular case or authority to prosecute any criminal violations of section 18-5.5-102.

SECTION 5. Effective date. This act takes effect September 1,

SECTION 4. In Colorado Revised Statutes, 24-72-704, amend (1)(c) as follows:

24-72-704. Sealing of criminal conviction records information for offenses involving controlled substances for convictions entered on or after July 1, 2008, and prior to July 1, 2011. 17-1-115.9. Incentives for mental health professionals - report - legislative declaration. (1) The General Assembly finds that:

(a) The failure to provide timely needed sex offender treatment or services creates a risk when an inmate is released into the community and increases expenses when an inmate remains in prison due to his or her failure to receive treatment or services; and

(b) In order to provide the necessary sex offender treatment and services in difficult-to-serve areas in a timely manner, the Department must have the flexibility to offer incentives to contracted mental health professionals to provide such treatment and services in such areas.

(2) The Department shall monitor the number of inmates who have a specified sex offender treatment or service identified in the inmate’s recommended rehabilitation report and who are not receiving the treatment or service due to a lack of treatment or service providers. The Department shall develop and may implement an incentive plan for each sex offender treatment or service and each geographic area in which there is a need for additional contracted mental health professionals to provide the identified sex offender treatment or service. The incentive plan must include specific incentives to contract with the necessary mental health professionals and may include increases in fees and travel reimbursements paid, bonuses, and other financial incentives.

"(10) (a) ON AND AFTER JANUARY 1, 2019, IN ACCORDANCE WITH SUBSECTION (2) OF THIS SECTION, THE STATE COURT ADMINISTRATOR SHALL ADMINISTER A COURT REMINDER PROGRAM WITH THE OBJECTIVE TO REMIND CRIMINAL DEFENDANTS IN COUNTY COURTS AND DISTRICT COURTS, EXCEPT FOR THE DENVER COUNTY COURT, TO APPEAR AT EACH OF THEIR SCHEDULED COURT APPEARANCES. THE OBJECTIVE OF SUCH

DEFENDANTS WHO ARE COMMITTED TO THE CUSTODY OF A COUNTY JAIL SOLELY AS A RESULT OF THEIR FAILURE TO APPEAR IN COURT.

(b) IN ADMINISTERING THE PROGRAM, THE STATE COURT ADMINISTRATOR SHALL PRIORITIZE THE USE OF TEXT MESSAGES TO REMIND CRIMINAL DEFENDANTS WITH THE CAPACITY TO RECEIVE TEXT MESSAGES, UNLESS AND UNTIL A MORE EFFECTIVE TECHNOLOGICAL MEANS OF REMINDING DEFENDANTS BECOMES AVAILABLE. IN ADDITION, OR WHEN A DEFENDANT IS UNABLE TO RECEIVE TEXT MESSAGES, THE STATE COURT ADMINISTRATOR, AT HIS OR HER DISCRETION, MAY ALSO USE TELEPHONIC COMMUNICATIONS, E-MAIL, OR OTHER INTERNET-BASED TECHNOLOGY TO REMIND DEFENDANTS OF COURT DATES.

(c) ON AND AFTER SEPTEMBER 1, 2018, THE STATE COURT ADMINISTRATOR SHALL TRACK DATA IN EACH COUNTY COURT AND DISTRICT COURT, EXCEPT FOR THE DENVER COUNTY COURT, CONCERNING THE FAILURE OF CRIMINAL DEFENDANTS TO APPEAR FOR THEIR SCHEDULED COURT APPEARANCES.

(d) THE PROGRAM SHALL:

(I) PROVIDE TEXT MESSAGE REMINDERS FOR ALL COURT APPEARANCES FOR STATE AND COUNTY CRIMINAL DEFENDANTS WITH THE CAPACITY TO RECEIVE TEXT MESSAGES AND FOR WHOM THE STATE COURT ADMINISTRATOR HAS A WORKING PHONE NUMBER;

(II) IDENTIFY EACH INSTANCE IN WHICH A CRIMINAL DEFENDANT RECEIVED A TEXT MESSAGE REMINDER;

(III) IDENTIFY CRIMINAL DEFENDANTS WITH UPCOMING COURT APPEARANCES WHO CANNOT BE REACHED BECAUSE THEY LACK THE CAPACITY TO RECEIVE TEXT MESSAGES;
(IV) Collect data concerning the number of criminal defendants who fail to appear at their scheduled court appearances despite having received one or more reminders;

(V) Have the capacity, at the discretion of the state court administrator, to provide additional information to criminal defendants concerning their scheduled court dates, which may include but need not be limited to the location of a court appearance; transportation options, if available; child care, if available; and what a defendant may do if the defendant is unable to attend the court appearance;

(VI) Have the capacity to support partnerships between the state court administrator and local law enforcement agencies, local governments, and the state public defender, for the purposes described in subsections (10)(e), (10)(f), (10)(g), and (10)(h) of this section; and

(VII) Utilize one or more publicly available websites at which criminal defendants may request text reminders.

(e) The state court administrator may partner with local law enforcement agencies, at the state court administrator's and the agencies' discretion, to allow individuals who are cited and released by law enforcement officers to receive text message reminders.

(f) The state court administrator may, at the state court administrator's and each local government's discretion, partner with local governments to allow criminal defendants in municipal courts to receive reminders pursuant to this subsection (10). Any local government that partners with the state court administrator pursuant to this subsection (10) shall pay all costs of sending reminders to criminal defendants, including the cost of linking the municipal court database with the state court administrator database.

(g) The state court administrator may partner with the state public defender, at the state court administrator's and the state public defender's discretion, to provide reminders and other information to criminal defendants whom the state public defender represents.

(h) The state court administrator, at his or her discretion, may expand the program to provide text message reminders to probationers to remind them of time-sensitive requirements of their probation.

(i) Each county court and district court, except for the Denver county court, shall utilize the reminder services of the state court administrator described in this subsection (10) unless the court has its own procedure for using text messaging to remind criminal defendants to appear at their scheduled court appearances.

(j) Notwithstanding any other provision of this subsection (10), the Denver county court is not required to utilize the program.

(k) In its annual report to the committees of reference pursuant to section 2-7-203, the judicial department shall include information concerning the activities of the state court administrator pursuant to this subsection (10). To the extent practicable, the report must include:
(I) The number of reminders received by criminal defendants in each county and each judicial district;

(II) The number of criminal defendants in each county and each judicial district who failed to appear for a court hearing;

(III) The number of criminal defendants in each county and each judicial district who received a reminder from the program but who nonetheless failed to appear for a court hearing;

(IV) Any other data collected by the state court administrator that the state court administrator determines to be useful to the general assembly in assessing the effectiveness of the program at reducing the number of criminal defendants who fail to appear for their court appearances and reducing the number of criminal defendants who are jailed for failure to appear at a court appearance;

(V) To the extent practicable, any savings or expenses that this subsection (10) has generated for the state; and

(VI) Any recommendation that the state court administrator may have concerning the implementation of this subsection (10).

(I) Nothing in this subsection (10) creates a right for any criminal defendant to receive a reminder from the program.

(m) In administering the program, the state court administrator shall comply with any federal or state law that requires the state court administrator to obtain a person's consent before sending text message reminders to the person."

House in recess. House reconvened.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The following statement was issued in the House Chamber by Majority Leader KC Becker:

February 27, 2018

Members of the Colorado House of Representatives,

As you likely know, I am the official contact person in the investigations involving Rep Lebsock.

I have received a report from the outside investigator that includes 11 allegations by 5 women against Representative Lebsock. All of the allegations have been found to be credible by the external investigator.
I have reviewed the report and found the content of the report to be both serious and egregious in nature. Due to the seriousness of the findings, I am recommending that this body consider, through a Resolution for Expulsion, that Representative Lebsock be expelled from this body. Later today I will be introducing a resolution to that effect and will also be putting a memo on your desks explaining why I am making this recommendation.

As you all know, our policy keeps investigations of this type confidential. However, it also speaks to providing information to relevant parties on a “need to know basis.” Because I am asking you all to render a decision in this matter, members of this body have a “need to know” relevant information that may not otherwise be made available under our policy. I will be making redacted copies of the Report available to Members to inspect. No staff, aides or others will be allowed access to the Report and no copies or pictures can be made of the report. I will provide details of where and when members can review the report shortly.

In addition to providing my memo and making the redacted report available to you, we will hold caucus meetings this Thursday, March 1st upon adjournment. We will begin with a joint caucus meeting in Room 271 where I will make a brief presentation. Following the joint meeting, the respective caucuses will proceed to Rooms LSB-A and LSB-B to discuss the matter separately. Each caucus has the opportunity to manage that meeting as it chooses.

Before the Resolution is heard on the House floor, I will provide modified Rules for Consideration of the Resolution to the body. As you know we typically only allow members 2 opportunities and a total of 10 minutes to speak at the well during a resolution. Representative Lebsock may want additional time to address the body and that will be provided to him. Additionally, the modified rules will allow the Speaker and Minority Leader the opportunity to provide up to three additional members time to speak to the matter. Those members will be designated by 9am Friday March 2nd.

As you may know, this body has not considered a resolution for expulsion of a member of the Legislature since 1915 and there is no specific process to consider a resolution of this nature. I have done my best to develop a fair and open process and have consulted with non-partisan legal staff, the Speaker and the Minority Leadership. My hope is this process allows for a judicious but expedient resolution that respects the confidentiality of the people involved.

Respectfully,

(signed)

KC Becker
Majority Leader

PART 2

COLORADO FOOD SYSTEMS ADVISORY COUNCIL

35-1-201. [Formerly 24-37.3-101] Legislative declaration.

1. In September 2009, the federal centers for disease control and prevention reported that no state in the United States was meeting national goals for the amount of fruits and vegetables that Americans should be eating. As a result, the centers for disease control and prevention identified the creation of food policy councils, consisting of multi-stakeholder organizations, as an effective way to support system changes to improve local, regional, and state food economies.

2. Food councils formed in other states have been effective in bringing together a broad array of food-related government and nongovernment constituencies to employ a food systems approach that facilitates evaluation and program development at every stage of the food process from farm to table.

3. Formation of a state food advisory council is intended to benefit Colorado agriculturists and others involved in all aspects of agricultural production;

4. Creation of a state food advisory council will provide increased focus on the economic development opportunities of Colorado's food system along with improvements to agricultural production, community well-being, and public health; AND

5. Nothing in this article PART 2 is intended to impede, cause harm to, or limit conventionally produced agricultural products or the persons who produce them.
(2) The general assembly further finds that building local, regional, and state food economies will create jobs, stimulate statewide economic development, and circulate money from local food sales within local communities. The general assembly finds that building robust, resilient, and long-term local food economies in Colorado will preserve and protect the natural environment, increase consumer access to fresh, healthy, and safe foods, and provide greater food security for all Coloradans.

35-1-202. Definitions. As used in this part 2, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) "Farm-to-school program" means a program that encourages the acquisition and use of locally grown, produced, and processed agricultural products by schools in order to provide healthy, local food products to students and benefit the state's agricultural industry.

(2) "Food and nutrition assistance" means federal and community-based food programs that provide food directly, or supplemental income to purchase food, to eligible low-income citizens.

12-43.3-307.5. Business and owner requirements - legislative declaration. (1) (a) The general assembly hereby finds and declares that:
(I) Medical marijuana businesses need to be able to access capital in order to effectively grow their businesses and remain competitive in the marketplace;
(II) The current regulatory structure for medical marijuana creates a substantial barrier to investment from out-of-state interests and publicly traded corporations;

(III) There is insufficient capital in the state to properly fund the capital needs of Colorado medical marijuana businesses;

(IV) Colorado medical marijuana businesses need to have ready access to capital from investors in states from outside of Colorado; and

(IV.5) Under certain circumstances, permitting publicly traded corporations to hold an interest in medical marijuana businesses will benefit Colorado's medical marijuana market;

(V) Providing access to legitimate sources of capital helps prevent the opportunity for those who engage in illegal activity to gain entry into the state's regulated medical marijuana market;

(VI) Access to capital must be balanced with promoting control over medical marijuana businesses by suitable persons who are legitimate, taxpaying businesspeople, and not criminal actors; preventing revenue from the sale of marijuana from going to criminal enterprises, gangs, and cartels; and preventing state-authorized marijuana activity from being used as a cover or pretext for the trafficking of other illegal drugs or other illegal activity; and

(VII) Publicly traded corporations offering securities for investment in medical marijuana businesses must tell the public the truth about their business, the securities they are selling, and the risks involved with investing in medical marijuana businesses, and people who sell and trade securities related to medical marijuana businesses are prohibited from engaging in deceit, misrepresentations, and other fraud in the sale of the securities.

(b) Therefore, the general assembly is providing a mechanism for Colorado medical marijuana businesses to access capital from investors in other states and from certain publicly traded corporations pursuant to this section and section 12-43.3-307.6.

(2) A direct beneficial interest owner who is a natural person must either:

(a) Have been a resident of Colorado for at least one year prior to the date of the application; or

(b) Be a United States citizen prior to the date of the application.

(3) (a) A medical marijuana business may be comprised of an unlimited number of direct beneficial interest owners that have been residents of Colorado for at least one year prior to the date of the application:

(b) On and after January 1, 2017, a medical marijuana business that is comprised of one or more direct beneficial interest owners who have not been Colorado residents for at least one year prior to application shall have at least one officer who has been a Colorado resident for at least one year prior to application and all officers with day-to-day operational control over the business must be Colorado residents for at least one year prior to application. A medical marijuana business under this paragraph (b) is limited to no more than fifteen direct beneficial interest owners, including all parent and subsidiary entities, all of whom are natural persons:

(c) Notwithstanding the requirements of paragraph (b) of this subsection (3), the state licensing authority may review the limitation on the number of direct beneficial interest owners and may increase the number of allowable interests above fifteen based on reasonable considerations such as developments in state and federal financial regulations, market conditions, and the licensee’s ability to access legitimate sources of capital.

(d) A direct beneficial interest owner that is a closely held business entity must consist entirely of natural persons who are United States citizens prior to the date of the application, including all parent and subsidiary entities.

(4) A medical marijuana business may include qualified institutional investors that own thirty percent or less of the medical marijuana business.

(b) All of its officers, directors, and affiliates; and
(c) All officers, directors, and greater-than-five-percent beneficial owners of any of its affiliates.

(5) (a) A person who intends to apply as a direct beneficial interest owner and is not a Colorado resident for at least one year prior to the date of application to become a controlling beneficial owner shall first submit a request to the state licensing authority for a finding of suitability as a direct beneficial interest owner. The person shall failure to provide all requested information in connection with a request for a finding of suitability is grounds for denial of that finding of suitability. Every proposed controlling beneficial owner must receive a finding of suitability or an exemption from a finding of suitability prior to submitting an application to the state licensing authority. Failure to receive all required findings of suitability prior to application is grounds for denial of an application or suspension, revocation, or other sanction against the licensee by the state licensing authority.

(b) The state licensing authority shall perform a limited initial background check on qualified limited passive investors. If the initial background check provides reasonable cause for additional investigation, the state licensing authority may require a full background check.

(c) In addition to the requirements of subsection (5)(a) of this section, following the disclosure required by subsection (4.5) of this section, the state licensing authority shall determine which individual controlling beneficial owners and affiliates of each controlling beneficial owner are required to obtain a finding of suitability prior to submission of a medical marijuana business application. Failure to provide any information requested in connection with a finding of suitability may also be grounds for denial of that request for finding of suitability. All individuals shall obtain any required finding of suitability prior to submitting a medical marijuana business application to the state licensing authority.

(5.5) In its reasonable discretion, at any time, the state licensing authority may require any person that was disclosed or should have been disclosed under this section or section
TO OBTAIN A FINDING OF SUITABILITY. Failure to provide any information requested in connection with a finding of suitability may also be grounds for denial of that request for finding of suitability. Failure of a person to obtain any required finding of suitability may be grounds for denial of an application or suspension, revocation, or other sanction of a license.

(5.7) If a required finding of suitability is not completed within one year from the date the finding of suitability was requested, the state licensing authority shall inform the applicant or licensee.

(6) The state licensing authority shall review the medical marijuana business's operating documents to ensure compliance with this section:

(6.5) A person, other than an individual, that is a controlling beneficial owner shall appoint and continuously maintain a registered agent who satisfies the requirements of section 7-90-701. The medical marijuana business shall inform the state licensing authority of a change in the registered agent within ten days of the change.

(a) A bank as defined in section 3(a)(6) of the federal "Securities Exchange Act of 1934", as amended;

(b) An insurance company as defined in section 2(a)(17) of the federal "Investment Company Act of 1940", as amended;

(5) A person that becomes a beneficial owner of five percent or more of any class of security in a publicly traded corporation that is a medical marijuana business or a controlling beneficial owner must apply to the state licensing authority for a finding of suitability within forty-five days after becoming a beneficial owner or controlling beneficial owner. When a person is or becomes a beneficial owner of five percent or more of any class of security in the publicly traded corporation, the state licensing authority may require a finding of suitability of any officer, director, member, affiliate, or greater-than-five-percent beneficial owner in that person. (V) Providing access to legitimate sources of capital helps prevent the opportunity for those who engage in illegal activity to gain entry into Colorado’s regulated retail marijuana market;

(VI) Access to capital must be balanced with promoting control over retail marijuana establishments by suitable persons who are legitimate, taxpaying businesspeople, and not criminal actors; preventing revenue from the sale of marijuana from going to criminal enterprises, gangs, and cartels; and preventing state-authorized marijuana activity from being used as a cover or pretext for the trafficking of other illegal drugs or other illegal activity; and

"SECTION 2. In Colorado Revised Statutes, 24-33.5-1801, amend (3)(c); and add (2.5), (3)(e), (3)(f), and (3)(g) as follows:

24-33.5-1801. Legislative declaration. (2.5) The General Assembly finds and declares that:

(a) Human trafficking is a matter of statewide concern and has a direct impact on local communities, law enforcement agencies, and organizations that provide services to human trafficking survivors;

(b) Although training resources are available on the front range, many areas of the state have limited training resources pertaining to human trafficking that are easily available or accessible;

(c) Labor and sex trafficking can happen in any community. All areas of the state should have access to training to help identify human trafficking and provide critical services to human trafficking survivors.

(d) Traffickers target and recruit children in schools in Colorado. It is essential to increase awareness of school staff, parents and guardians, and students of the dangers of human trafficking. To assist schools, parents, and children, the Colorado School Safety Resource Center shall annually update and disseminate a list of available human trafficking curricula to schools, including some that are free of charge.

(e) The Colorado Human Trafficking Council has developed a curriculum and train-the-trainer program for law enforcement; and

(f) The council is currently developing a curriculum and train-the-trainer program for entities that provide services to human trafficking survivors. The curriculum and training programs may supplement the excellent anti-trafficking work being done by advocacy and service organizations across the state.

(3) Now, therefore, the general assembly declares that:

(c) Resources are needed to fully develop safety plans and practices in Colorado's schools, colleges, and universities; and

(e) Law enforcement agencies, organizations that provide services to human trafficking survivors, and local communities would benefit from additional training opportunities related to human trafficking;

(f) The Division of Criminal Justice and the Colorado Human Trafficking Council are well placed to develop human trafficking curricula and to help provide training in this critical area; and

(g) The Colorado School Safety Resource Center is committed to continuing to make available human trafficking educational resources to schools, parents, and children.".

Renumber succeeding sections accordingly.
"SECTION 3. In Colorado Revised Statutes, 24-33.5-1803, amend (3)(l) as follows:

24-33.5-1803. School safety resource center - created - duties - repeal. (3) The center has the following duties:

(1) To provide materials and training as described in section 24-33.5-1809 to personnel in school districts and charter schools, parents, and students regarding the awareness and prevention of child sexual abuse and assault, INCLUDING HUMAN TRAFFICKING; and".

HB18-1156 be amended as follows, and as so amended, be referred to the Committee of the Whole with favorable recommendation:

Amend printed bill, page 2, before line 2 insert:

"SECTION 1. Legislative declaration. (1) The general assembly finds and declares that:

(a) The general assembly has previously declared, in House Bill 11-1053, enacted in 2011, that "[t]he best practice for addressing truancy is a graduated approach that includes early intervention", and that youth who are truant and "who have committed no criminal offense . . . may be physically and emotionally unprepared for the stress" of the juvenile justice system;

(b) Yet, in 2017, youth who were truant were held in secure confinement in a facility more than forty times;

(c) National and Colorado studies clearly demonstrate that placing a youth in secure confinement for truancy alone is counterproductive and harmful to the youth and the community for the following reasons:

(I) A youth who was detained for truancy is 14.5 times less likely to graduate from high school than a youth who was found truant but not detained; and

(II) Detention for truancy increases the likelihood of future criminal behavior. Youth who are truant are not charged with any criminal conduct, but placing these youth in secure confinement with youth who are charged with criminal conduct increases the likelihood the truant youth will subsequently engage in criminal behavior.

(d) The state has a strong interest in preserving limited and costly youth detention beds for youth who have been accused of or adjudicated for dangerous criminal conduct; and

(e) Truancy by a youth does not pose an inherent or immediate threat to the safety of the youth or the community.

(2) The general assembly therefore finds that youth in Colorado should not be placed in secure confinement for truancy alone. The general assembly further finds that the power of the court to sanction youth for contempt, including sanctions of detention and incarceration, is an inherent power of the court that may not be abrogated by the legislature, pursuant to article III of the state constitution."

Renumber succeeding sections accordingly.

22-33-108. Judicial proceedings. (7) (a) If the child or youth does not comply with the valid court order issued against the child or youth or against both the parent and the child or youth, the court may order an assessment for neglect as described in section 19-3-102(1) C.R.S., be conducted as provided in section 19-3-501. C.R.S. In addition, the court may order the child or youth to show cause why he or she should not be held in contempt of court. When instituting contempt of court proceedings pursuant to this subsection (7), the court shall provide all procedural protections mandated in the Colorado rules of civil procedure concerning punitive sanctions for contempt.

(a.5) A judge or magistrate of any court may issue a warrant that authorizes the taking into temporary custody of a child or youth who has failed to appear for a court hearing for a truancy or contempt action; except that any such warrant must provide for release of the child or youth from temporary custody on an unsecured personal recognizance bond that is cosigned by the child’s or youth’s parent or legal guardian or, if the child or youth is in the custody of the department of human services, cosigning may be accomplished by a representative of the department of human services. In the alternative, the warrant may direct that the child or youth must only be arrested while court is in session and that he or she be taken directly to court for an appearance rather than booked into secure confinement.

(b) The court may impose sanctions after a finding of contempt that may include, but need not be limited to, community service to be performed by the child or youth, supervised activities, participation in services for at-risk students, as described by section 22-33-204, and other activities having goals that shall ensure that the child or youth has an opportunity to obtain a quality education.

(c) (I) If the court finds that the child or youth has refused to comply with the plan created for the child or youth pursuant to section 22-33-107 (3), the court may impose on the child or youth, as a sanction for contempt of court, a sentence of detention for no more than five days forty-eight hours in a juvenile detention facility operated by or under contract with the department of human services pursuant to section 19-2-402 C.R.S., and any rules promulgated by the Colorado supreme court. The court shall not sentence a child or youth to detention as a sanction for contempt of court unless the court finds that detention is in the best interest of the child or youth as well as the public. In making such a finding, the court shall consider the following factors, including that:

(A) The child or youth has violated a valid court order;

(B) National and Colorado-specific evidence shows that detaining children and youth for truancy alone is counterproductive and harmful to children and youth;

(C) The legislative intent is that a child or youth who is truant must not be placed in secure confinement for truancy alone;

(D) Detention is likely to have a detrimental effect on the child’s or youth’s school attendance; and

(E) Detention is likely to have an effect on the child’s or youth’s future involvement with the criminal justice system.
(II) THERE IS A REBUTTABLE PRESUMPTION THAT A CHILD OR YOUTH MUST RECEIVE CREDIT FOR TIME SERVED IF HE OR SHE IS SENTENCED TO DETENTION PURSUANT TO SUBSECTION (7)(c)(I) OF THIS SECTION FOR VIOLATING A VALID COURT ORDER TO ATTEND SCHOOL. IF THE COURT REBUTS THIS PRESUMPTION, IT SHALL EXPLAIN ITS REASONING ON THE RECORD.

"SECTION 1. In Colorado Revised Statutes, add 24-34-805 as follows:

24-34-805. Family preservation safeguards for families that include a parent with a disability - protections - legislative declaration - definitions. (1) (a) The general assembly finds and declares that:

(I) Persons with disabilities continue to face unfair, preconceived, and unnecessary societal biases, as well as antiquated attitudes, regarding their ability to successfully parent their children;

(II) Persons with disabilities have faced these biases and preconceived attitudes in family and dependency law proceedings concerning parental responsibilities and parenting time decisions, public and private adoptions, guardianship, and foster care;

(III) Because of these societal biases and antiquated attitudes, children of persons with disabilities historically have been vulnerable to unnecessary removal from one or both of their parents' care or are restricted from enjoying meaningful time with one or both parents; and

(IV) Children have been denied the opportunity to enjoy the experience of living in loving homes with a parent or parents with a disability or other caretakers with a disability.

(b) Therefore, the general assembly declares that to protect the best interests of children who are parented by persons with disabilities or children who could be parented by persons with disabilities:

(I) Procedural safeguards are required in adherence to the federal "Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990", 42 U.S.C. sec. 12101 et seq.; and

(II) It is necessary to have respect for the due process and equal protection rights of parents and prospective parents with disabilities in the context of child welfare, foster care, family law, guardianship, and adoption.

(2) Achieving the goal of family preservation for a parent or prospective parent with a disability includes the following requirements:
(a) A PARENT’S DISABILITY ALONE MUST NOT SERVE AS A BASIS FOR DENIAL OR RESTRICTION OF PARENTING TIME OR PARENTAL RESPONSIBILITIES IN:
(I) A DOMESTIC LAW PROCEEDING PURSUANT TO TITLE 14,
WITHOUT A CLEAR NEXUS TO THE PARENT’S ABILITY TO MEET THE NEEDS OF THE CHILD;
(II) A MINOR GUARDIANSHIP PROCEEDING PURSUANT TO TITLE 15,
WITHOUT A CLEAR NEXUS TO THE PARENT’S ABILITY TO MEET THE NEEDS OF THE CHILD; OR
(III) A DEPENDENCY AND NEGLECT PROCEEDING PURSUANT TO TITLE 19, EXCEPT WHEN IT IMPACTS THE HEALTH OR WELFARE OF A CHILD;
(b) A PROSPECTIVE ADOPTIVE PARENT’S DISABILITY ALONE MUST NOT SERVE AS A BASIS FOR THE DENIAL OF HIS OR HER PARTICIPATION IN A PUBLIC OR PRIVATE ADOPTION PURSUANT TO ARTICLE 5 OF TITLE 19
UNLESS IT WOULD IMPACT THE HEALTH OR WELFARE OF A CHILD;
(c) AN INDIVIDUAL’S DISABILITY ALONE MUST NOT SERVE AS A BASIS FOR THE DENIAL OF TEMPORARY CUSTODY OR FOSTER CARE OF A MINOR, EXCEPT WHEN IT IMPACTS THE HEALTH OR WELFARE OF A CHILD;
(d) IN A CASE BROUGHT PURSUANT TO TITLE 14, A MINOR GUARDIANSHIP PROCEEDING PURSUANT TO TITLE 15, OR ARTICLE 4 OF TITLE 19;
(I) WHERE A PARENT’S OR PROSPECTIVE GUARDIAN’S DISABILITY IS ALLEGED TO HAVE A DETERMINAL IMPACT ON A CHILD, THE PARTY
RAISING THE ALLEGATION BEARS THE BURDEN OF PROVING, BY A PREPONDERANCE OF THE EVIDENCE, THAT THE BEHAVIOR OR BEHAVIORS
OF THE PARENT OR PROSPECTIVE PARENT ARE CONTRARY TO THE CHILD’S BEST INTEREST; AND
(II) IF THE BURDEN OF PROOF REQUIRED PURSUANT TO SUBSECTION
(2)(d)(I) OF THIS SECTION IS MET, THE PARENT OR PROSPECTIVE GUARDIAN WITH A DISABILITY MUST BE GIVEN THE OPPORTUNITY TO DEMONSTRATE HOW THE IMPLEMENTATION OF SUPPORTIVE PARENTING SERVICES CAN ALLEVIAE ANY CONCERNS THAT HAVE BEEN RAISED. THE COURT MAY REQUIRE THAT SUCH SUPPORTIVE PARENTING SERVICES BE PROVIDED OR IMPLEMENTED, GIVEN THE RESOURCES OF THE FAMILY, WITH AN OPPORTUNITY TO REVIEW THE NEED FOR CONTINUATION OF SUCH SERVICES
WITHIN A REASONABLE PERIOD OF TIME.
(e) IN A DEPENDENCY AND NEGLECT CASE BROUGHT PURSUANT TO TITLE 19, WHEN A RESPONDENT PARENT’S DISABILITY IS ALLEGED TO IMPACT THE HEALTH OR WELFARE OF A CHILD, THE COURT SHALL FIND WHETHER REASONABLE ACCOMMODATIONS AND MODIFICATIONS, AS REQUIRED BY THE FEDERAL "AMERICANS WITH DISABILITIES ACT OF IMPLEMENTING REGULATIONS, WERE PROVIDED TO AVOID NONEMERGENCY REMOVAL ON THE BASIS OF DISABILITY.
(f) IN A CASE BROUGHT PURSUANT TO TITLE 14, A MINOR GUARDIANSHIP PROCEEDING PURSUANT TO TITLE 15, OR ARTICLES 4 AND 5 OF TITLE 19, IF A COURT DETERMINES THAT THE RIGHT OF A PARENT OR PROSPECTIVE GUARDIAN WITH A DISABILITY TO PARENTING TIME, PARENTAL RESPONSIBILITIES, GUARDIANSHIP, OR ADOPTION SHOULD BE DENIED, RESTRICTED, OR CONDITIONED IN ANY MANNER, THE COURT SHALL MAKE SPECIFIC FINDINGS OF FACT AND LAW STATING THE BASIS FOR SUCH A DETERMINATION AND WHY THE PROVISION OF SUPPORTIVE PARENTING SERVICES IS NOT A REASONABLE ACCOMMODATION OR REMEDY TO PREVENT THE DENIAL OR LIMITATION.
(3) As used in this section, unless the context otherwise requires:
(a) "Disability" has the same meaning as set forth in the Federal "Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990", 42 U.S.C. sec. 12101 et seq., and its related amendments and implementing regulations.
(b) "Supportive Parenting Services" means the provision of reasonable accommodations and modifications as set forth in the Federal "Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990", 42 U.S.C. sec. 12101 et seq., and its related amendments and implementing regulations, and are directly related to a disability and that enable a parent with a disability to safely fulfill parental responsibilities.

SECTION 2. In Colorado Revised Statutes, amend 14-10-102 as follows:
14-10-102. Purposes - rules of construction. (1) This article shall be liberally construed and applied to promote its underlying purposes.
(2) The underlying purposes of this article are:
(a) To promote the amicable settlement of disputes that have arisen between parties to a marriage;
(b) To mitigate the potential harm to the spouses and their children caused by the process of legal dissolution of marriage; and
(c) To make the law of legal dissolution of marriage more effective for dealing with the realities of matrimonial experience by making an irretrievable breakdown of the marriage relationship the sole basis for its dissolution; and
(d) To provide safeguards for a parent with a disability, pursuant to the provisions of section 24-34-805.

SECTION 3. In Colorado Revised Statutes, amend 14-10-104.5 as follows:
14-10-104.5. Legislative declaration. The general assembly recognizes that it is in the best interests of the parties to a marriage in which a dissolution has been granted and in which there are children of the marriage for the parties to be able to resolve disputes that arise subsequent to the dissolution in an amicable and fair manner. The general assembly further recognizes that, in most cases, it is in the best interests of the children of the marriage to have a relationship with both parents, including a parent with a disability, and that, in most cases, it is the parents' right to have a relationship with their children. The general assembly emphasizes that one of the underlying purposes of this article is to mitigate the potential harm to the spouses and their children and the relationships between the parents and their children caused by the process of legal dissolution of marriage. The general assembly recognizes that when a marriage in which children are involved is dissolved both parties either agree to or are subject to orders which contain certain obligations and commitments. The general assembly declares that the honoring and enforcing of those obligations and commitments made by both parties is necessary to maintaining a relationship that is in the best interest of the children of the marriage. In recognition of the foregoing, the general assembly hereby declares that both parties should honor and fulfill all of the obligations and commitments made between the parties and ordered by the court.

SECTION 4. In Colorado Revised Statutes, 19-1-103, add (42.5) as follows:
19-1-103. Definitions. (42.5) "Disability" has the same meaning as set forth in the Federal "Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990", 42 U.S.C. Sec. 12101 et seq., and its related amendments and implementing regulations.

SECTION 5. In Colorado Revised Statutes, 19-3-100.5, amend
(5) as follows:

19-3-100.5. Legislative declarations - reasonable efforts - movement of children and sibling groups. (5) Therefore, in order to carry out the requirements addressed in this section, to ensure stability in placements, to preserve families, and to decrease the need for out-of-home placement, the general assembly shall define "reasonable efforts" and identify the services and processes that must be in place to ensure that "reasonable efforts" have been made. The general assembly shall provide that "reasonable efforts" are deemed to be met when a county or city and county provides services in accordance with section 19-3-208 and when full consideration has been given to the provisions of section 24-34-805 (2).

SECTION 6. In Colorado Revised Statutes, 19-3-208, add (2)(g) as follows:

19-3-208. Services - county required to provide - rules.
(2)(g) Services provided pursuant to this section are required to meet the provisions of the Federal "Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990", 42 U.S.C. Sec. 12101 et seq., and its related amendments and implementing regulations.

SECTION 7. In Colorado Revised Statutes, 19-3-507, add (1)(c)
as follows:

19-3-507. Dispositional hearing. (1)(c) If one or both of the parents have a disability, reasonable accommodations and modifications, as set forth in the Federal "Americans with related amendments and implementing regulations, are necessary to ensure the treatment plan components are accessible. If applicable, any identified accommodations and modifications must be listed in the report prepared for the dispositional hearing.

SECTION 8. In Colorado Revised Statutes, 19-3-604, amend
(1)(b) introductory portion and (1)(b)(I) as follows:

19-3-604. Criteria for termination. (1) The court may order a termination of the parent-child legal relationship upon the finding by clear and convincing evidence of any one of the following:
(b) That the child is adjudicated dependent or neglected and the court finds that an appropriate treatment plan cannot be devised to address the unfitness of the parent or parents. In making such a determination, the court shall find one of the following as the basis for unfitness:
(I) An emotional illness, a behavioral or mental health disorder, or an intellectual and developmental disability of the parent of such duration or nature as to render the parent unlikely within a reasonable time to care for the ongoing physical, mental, and emotional needs and conditions of the child. The court shall make findings that the provision of reasonable accommodations and modifications pursuant to the Federal "Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990", 42 U.S.C. Sec. 12101 et seq., and its related amendments and implementing regulations, will not remediate the impact of the parent's disability on the health or welfare of the child.
SECTION 9. In Colorado Revised Statutes, 19-5-100.2, amend
(2) as follows:

19-5-100.2. Legislative declaration. (2) It is the purpose of this article ARTICLE 5 to promote the integrity and finality of adoptions to ensure that children placed in adoptive placements will be raised in stable, loving, and permanent families. IT IS THE FURTHER INTENT OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY THAT A PROSPECTIVE PARENT WITH A DISABILITY
SHOULD NOT BE DENIED THE OPPORTUNITY TO PROVIDE A PERMANENT ADOPTIVE PLACEMENT FOR A CHILD BASED SOLELY ON THE PARENT'S DISABILITY, AS PROVIDED FOR IN SECTION 24-34-805 (2). The general assembly intends that by enacting this legislation, it will be protecting children from being uprooted from adoptive placements and from the life-long emotional and psychological trauma that often accompanies being indiscriminately moved.

SECTION 10. Safety clause. The general assembly hereby finds, determines, and declares that this act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety.

SECTION 4. In Colorado Revised Statutes, add 12-43-202.5 as follows:

12-43-202.5. Minors - consent for outpatient psychotherapy - legislative declaration - immunity. (1) (a) THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY FINDS AND DECLARES THAT:

(I) THE CENTERS FOR DISEASE CONTROL FOUND SUICIDE TO BE THE TENTH LEADING CAUSE OF DEATH FOR ALL AGES IN 2013 AND IS CURRENTLY THE LEADING CAUSE OF DEATH FOR COLORADO YOUTH WHO ARE TEN THROUGH FOURTEEN YEARS OF AGE;

(II) ACCORDING TO THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF SUICIDOLOGY, THE SUICIDE RATE FOR YOUTH WHO ARE TEN THROUGH FOURTEEN YEARS OF AGE HAS INCREASED BY MORE THAN FIFTY PERCENT OVER THE PAST THREE DECADES; AND

(III) YOUTH WHO ARE TEN THROUGH FOURTEEN YEARS OF AGE OFTEN AVOID OBTAINING, OR ARE LEGALLY UNABLE TO OBTAIN WITHOUT PARENTAL CONSENT, OUTPATIENT PSYCHOTHERAPY SERVICES THAT WOULD HELP THEM PRIOR TO REACHING CRISIS LEVELS BECAUSE THEY ARE EMBARRASSED OR CONCERNED ABOUT SPEAKING WITH THEIR PARENTS ABOUT THEIR MENTAL HEALTH CONCERNS AND SITUATION.

(b) THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY THEREFORE DECLARES THAT IT IS A MATTER OF STATEWIDE CONCERN TO ALLOW YOUTH WHO ARE TWELVE YEARS OF AGE AND OLDER TO HAVE LEGAL ACCESS TO OUTPATIENT PSYCHOTHERAPY SERVICES THAT MIGHT OTHERWISE BE UNAVAILABLE WITHOUT THE CONSENT OF OR NOTIFICATION TO THE YOUTH’S PARENT OR LEGAL GUARDIAN. PROVIDING THESE YOUTH WITH ACCESS TO OUTPATIENT PSYCHOTHERAPY SERVICES IS INTENDED TO REDUCE YOUTH SUICIDES AND ALLOW MENTAL HEALTH PROVIDERS TO WORK WITH YOUTH TO TEACH THEM FUNCTIONAL COPING SKILLS. MENTAL HEALTH PROVIDERS WOULD FURTHER HAVE THE OPPORTUNITY TO HELP THESE YOUTH BUILD HEALTHY CONNECTIONS WITH PARENTS OR LEGAL GUARDIANS BY INCREASING COMMUNICATION AND STRENGTHENING THE BOND BETWEEN PARENT AND CHILD, THUS BUILDING AN ONGOING, NONCLINICAL SUPPORT SYSTEM FOR THE YOUTH TO USE TO MANAGE HIS OR HER MENTAL HEALTH CONCERNS.

(2) (a) NOTWITHSTANDING ANY OTHER PROVISION OF LAW TO THE CONTRARY, A MENTAL HEALTH PROFESSIONAL WHO IS LICENSED PURSUANT TO THIS ARTICLE 43 MAY, AT A MINOR'S REQUEST, PROVIDE PSYCHOTHERAPY SERVICES, AS THAT TERM IS DEFINED IN SECTION 12-43-201 (9)(a), TO A MINOR WHO IS AT LEAST TWELVE YEARS OF AGE, BUT LESS THAN FIFTEEN YEARS OF AGE WITH OR WITHOUT THE CONSENT OF THE MINOR'S PARENT OR LEGAL GUARDIAN. THE MINOR’S CONSENT IS NOT SUBJECT TO DISAFFIRMANCE BECAUSE OF MINORITY.

(b) A MENTAL HEALTH PROFESSIONAL WHO IS LICENSED PURSUANT TO THIS ARTICLE 43 MAY NOT PROVIDE PSYCHOTHERAPY SERVICES TO A MINOR WHO IS YOUNGER THAN TWELVE YEARS OF AGE WITHOUT THE CONSENT OF THE MINOR’S PARENT OR LEGAL GUARDIAN. A MENTAL HEALTH PROFESSIONAL WHO IS LICENSED PURSUANT TO THIS ARTICLE 43 MAY PROVIDE PSYCHOTHERAPY SERVICES TO A MINOR WHO IS FIFTEEN YEARS OF AGE OR OLDER PURSUANT TO SECTION 27-65-103 (2).

(c) THE LICENSED MENTAL HEALTH PROFESSIONAL PROVIDING PSYCHOTHERAPY SERVICES TO A MINOR PURSUANT TO THIS SUBSECTION (2) IS NOT REQUIRED TO, BUT MAY, WITH THE CONSENT OF THE MINOR, ADVISE THE MINOR'S PARENT OR LEGAL GUARDIAN OF THE PSYCHOTHERAPY SERVICES PROVIDED PURSUANT TO SUBSECTION (2)(a) OF THIS SECTION. A LICENSED MENTAL HEALTH PROFESSIONAL PROVIDING SUCH PSYCHOTHERAPY SERVICES IS ENCOURAGED TO OBTAIN THE CONSENT OF THE MINOR TO SPEAK TO THE MINOR’S PARENT OR LEGAL GUARDIAN.

(3) IF A MINOR WHO IS RECEIVING PSYCHOTHERAPY SERVICES PURSUANT TO THIS SECTION COMMUNICATES TO THE MENTAL HEALTH PROFESSIONAL A CLEAR AND IMMEDIATE INTENT OR THREAT TO INFlict SERIOUS BODILY HARM ON HIMSELF OR HERSELF OR OTHERS, THE MENTAL HEALTH PROFESSIONAL IS SUBJECT TO THE PROVISIONS OF SECTION 13-21-117 (2).

SECTION 5. In Colorado Revised Statutes, 27-60-103, add (8) as follows:

27-60-103. Behavioral health crisis response system - services - request for proposals - criteria - reporting - rules. (8) The state department of human services shall coordinate efforts with the department of public health and environment to implement a statewide awareness campaign about youth suicide prevention, as well as awareness of the twenty-four-hour telephone crisis service created pursuant to this section. The state department of human services shall expand youth-specific interventions, including text-based services, within the twenty-four-hour telephone crisis service to specifically address youth suicide prevention.
SECTION 6. Safety clause. The general assembly hereby finds, determines, and declares that this act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety."

A majority of the members of the commission constitutes a quorum for the transaction of all business, and actions of the commission require a vote of a majority of the members present in favor of the action taken. The commission may delegate to the executive director of the department or his or her designee the authority to act on behalf of the commission on occasions and in circumstances that the commission deems necessary for the efficient and effective administration and execution of the commission's responsibilities under this part 7.

(6) (a) The commission shall advise and make recommendations to the executive director of the department or his or her designee regarding the certification of conservation easement holders in accordance with section 12-61-724. The division may determine whether an applicant for certification possesses the necessary qualifications for certification required by the rules adopted by the division.

(b) If the division determines that an applicant does not possess the applicable qualifications for certification or that the applicant has violated any provision of this part 7, the rules promulgated by the division, or any division order, the division may deny the applicant a certification or deny the renewal of a certification. In such instance, the division shall provide the applicant with a statement in writing setting forth the basis of the division's determination. The applicant may request a hearing on the determination as provided in section 24-4-104 (9). C.R.S.

(c) The division shall notify successful applicants in writing.

(d) An applicant that is not certified may reapply for certification in accordance with the procedure established by the division.
(6.5) The commission shall promulgate rules to effectuate the duties of the commission pursuant to Article 4 of Title 24. Such rules shall specifically address the following:

(a) A process for expedited or automatic certification of an entity that is currently accredited by national land conservation organizations that are broadly accepted by the conservation industry;

(b) A streamlined and lower-cost process for conservation easement holders that do not intend to accept new donations of conservation easements for which tax credits would be claimed that focuses on the holder’s stewardship capabilities;

(c) The fees charged pursuant to section 12-61-724 (3) or 12-61-727 (6), specifically ensuring that the fees are adequate to pay for administrative costs but not so high as to act as a disincentive to the creation of conservation easements in the state; and

(d) The adoption of best practices, processes, and procedures used by other entities that regularly review conservation easement transactions, including a practice, process, or procedure deeming conservation easement appraisals approved by these entities based on their independent reviews as credible for purposes of the conservation easement tax credit.

(8) This section is repealed, effective July 1, 2018. Prior to the repeal, the department of regulatory agencies shall review the commission as provided in section 24-34-104 C.R.S.

"SECTION 5. In Colorado Revised Statutes, 12-61-726, amend (1) introductory portion, (2), and (3) as follows:

12-61-726. Conservation easement tax credit certificates - rules. (1) The division shall receive tax credit certificate applications from and issue certificates to landowners for income tax credits for conservation easements donated on or after January 1, 2011, in accordance with section 39-22-522 (2.5) C.R.S., and this part 7. Nothing in this section restricts or limits the authority of the division to enforce this part 7. The division may promulgate rules in accordance with article 4 of title 24 C.R.S., for the issuance of the certificates. In promulgating rules, the division may include provisions governing:

(2) The division shall apply the amount claimed in a completed tax credit certificate application against the annual tax credit limit in the order that completed applications are received. The division shall apply claimed tax credit amounts that exceed the annual limit in any year against the limit for the next available year and issue tax credit certificates for use in the year in which the amount was applied to the annual limit.

(3) The division shall not issue tax credit certificates that in aggregate exceed the limit set forth in section 39-22-522 (2.5) C.R.S., during a particular calendar year."
SECTION 6. In Colorado Revised Statutes, 12-61-727, amend (1)(e), (2)(a) introductory portion, (3)(a), (4), (5) introductory portion, (6), (7)(a), (8)(c), (10), (11), (12)(b), (12)(c), (12)(d), (13)(a) introductory portion, (13)(b), (14)(a), (14)(b), (14)(d), (15), and (16); and add (18) as follows:

12-61-727. Conservation easement tax credit certificate application process - definitions - rules. (1) For purposes of this section:

(e) "Director" means the executive director of the division of real estate or his or her designee.

(2) (a) The division shall establish and administer a process by which a landowner seeking to claim an income tax credit for any conservation easement donation made on or after January 1, 2014, must apply for a tax credit certificate as required by section 39-22-522 (2.5) and (2.7), C.R.S. The purpose of the application process is to determine whether a conservation easement donation for which a tax credit will be claimed:

(3) For the purpose of reviewing applications and making determinations regarding the issuance of tax credit certificates, including the dollar amount of the tax credit certificate to be issued:

(a) Division staff shall review each application and advise and make recommendations to the director and the commission regarding the application;

(4) The department of revenue is not authorized to disallow a conservation easement tax credit based on any requirements that are under the jurisdiction of the division, the director, or the commission pursuant to this section.

(5) A complete tax credit certificate application must be made by the landowner to the division and must include:

(6) A landowner submitting an application for a tax credit certificate pursuant to this section or an application for an optional preliminary advisory opinion pursuant to subsection (14) of this section shall pay the division a fee as prescribed by the division. The application fee for an optional preliminary advisory opinion may be a different dollar amount than the application fee for a tax credit certificate. The fees must cover the costs of the division and the commission in administering the requirements of this section. The state treasurer shall credit the fees collected pursuant to this subsection (6) to the division of real estate cash fund created in section 12-61-111.5 of this section. On or before January 1, 2014, and on or before each January 1 thereafter, the division shall certify to the general assembly the amount of any fees prescribed by the division pursuant to this subsection (6).

(7) (a) If, during the review of an application for a tax credit certificate, the director or the commission identifies any potential deficiencies, the director or commission shall document the potential deficiencies in a letter sent to the landowner by first class mail. The division shall send letters documenting potential deficiencies to landowners in a timely manner so that the average number of days between the date a completed application is received by the division and the mailing date of the division’s letter to the landowner does not exceed one hundred twenty days.
(8) The director or the commission may deny an application if the landowner:

(c) Fails to timely respond to any written request or notice from the division, the director, or the commission.

(10) If the director and the commission do not identify any potential deficiencies with an application, the director and the commission shall approve the application, and the division shall issue a tax credit certificate to the landowner pursuant to section 12-61-726 in a timely manner so that the average number of days between the date a completed application is received by the division and the date the tax credit certificate is issued does not exceed one hundred twenty days. Once a tax credit certificate is issued, the landowner may claim and use the tax credit subject to any other applicable procedures and requirements under title 39, C.R.S.

(11) (a) If all potential deficiencies that have been identified are subsequently addressed to the satisfaction of the director and the commission, the director and the commission shall approve the application, and the division shall issue a tax credit certificate to the landowner pursuant to section 12-61-726. Once a tax credit certificate is issued, the landowner may claim and use the tax credit subject to any other applicable procedures and requirements under title 39, C.R.S.

(b) If any potential deficiencies that have been identified are not subsequently addressed to the satisfaction of the director and the commission, the division shall issue a written denial of the application to the landowner documenting those deficiencies that were the specific basis for the denial. The division shall date the written denial and send it by first class mail to the landowner at the address provided by the landowner on the application. The director may act on behalf of the commission for purposes of administering the process for issuing approvals and denials of applications and for administering subsection (12) of this section.

(12) (b) If the landowner fails to appeal the denial of an application within thirty days after the issuance of the denial, the denial becomes final, and the division shall not issue a tax credit certificate to the landowner.

(c) Administrative hearings must be conducted in accordance with section 24-4-105, C.R.S. At the discretion of the director, hearings may be conducted by an authorized representative of the director or the commission or an administrative law judge from the office of administrative courts in the department of personnel. All hearings must be held in the county where the division is located unless the director designates otherwise. The decision of the director or the commission is subject to judicial review by the court of appeals and is subject to the provisions of section 24-4-106, C.R.S.

(d) In conducting settlement discussions with a landowner, the director and the commission may compromise on any of the deficiencies identified in the application and supporting documentation, including the dollar amount of the tax credit certificate to be issued. The director shall place on file in the division a record of any compromise and the reasons for the compromise.

(13) (a) Commencing with the 2014 calendar year, and for each calendar year thereafter, the division shall create a report, which shall be made available to the public, containing the following aggregate information:
(b) The division DEPARTMENT may include additional easement-specific information in the public report that, notwithstanding the provisions of this part 7 or any other law to the contrary, would otherwise be publicly available.

(14) (a) In addition to the tax credit certificate application process set forth in this section, a landowner may submit a proposed conservation easement donation to the division DEPARTMENT to obtain an optional preliminary advisory opinion regarding the transaction. The opinion may address the proposed deed of conservation easement, appraisal, conservation purpose, or other relevant aspect of the transaction.

(b) The division DEPARTMENT, the director, and the commission shall review the information and documentation provided in a manner consistent with the scope of their authority and responsibilities for reviewing tax credit certificate applications as outlined in subsection (3) of this section and issue either a favorable opinion or a nonfavorable opinion.

(d) A nonfavorable opinion shall set forth any potential deficiencies identified by the director or the commission and that fall within the scope of the director's and the commission's review of the conservation easement transaction. The preliminary opinion is advisory only and is not binding for any purpose upon the division DEPARTMENT, the director, the commission, or the department of revenue.

(15) The division DEPARTMENT may promulgate rules to effectuate the purpose, implementation, and administration of this section pursuant to article 4 of title 24, C.R.S. The authority to promulgate rules includes the authority to define further in rule the administrative processes and requirements, including application processing and review time frames, for obtaining and issuing an optional preliminary advisory opinion pursuant to subsection (14) of this section. The authority to promulgate rules further includes the authority to establish, after consultation with the commission, monthly caps on the number of applications for tax credit certificates and preliminary advisory opinions accepted by the department.

(16) Notwithstanding the provisions of the "Colorado Open Records Act", part 2 of article 72 of title 24, C.R.S., the division DEPARTMENT, the director, and the commission shall deny the right of public inspection of any documentation or other record related to information obtained as part of an individual landowner's application for a tax credit certificate or an optional preliminary advisory opinion pursuant to the requirements of this section, including documentation or other records related to administrative hearings and settlement discussions held pursuant to subsection (12) of this section. The division DEPARTMENT, the director, and the commission may share documentation or other records related to information obtained pursuant to this section with the department of revenue.

(18) All fees and other money collected by the DEPARTMENT pursuant to this section and section 12-61-724 shall be transmitted to the state treasurer, who shall credit the same to the department of regulatory agencies conservation easement certification cash fund, which fund is hereby created.
All money credited to the fund shall be used as provided in this section or in section 12-61-724 and shall not be deposited in or transferred to the general fund of the state or any other fund.
SECTION 7. In Colorado Revised Statutes, 12-61-727, amend (7)(a) and (10) as follows:

12-61-727. Conservation easement tax credit certificate application process - definitions - rules. (7) (a) If, during the review of an application for a tax credit certificate, the director or the commission identifies any potential deficiencies, the director or commission shall document the potential deficiencies in a letter sent to the landowner by first class mail. The division shall send letters documenting potential deficiencies to landowners in a timely manner so that the average number of days between the date a completed application is received by the division and the mailing date of the division’s letter to the landowner does not exceed one hundred twenty days.

(10) If the director and the commission do not identify any potential deficiencies with an application, the director and the commission shall approve the application, and the division shall issue a tax credit certificate to the landowner pursuant to section 12-61-726 in a timely manner so that the average number of days between the date a completed application is received by the division and the date the tax credit certificate is issued does not exceed one hundred twenty days. Once a tax credit certificate is issued, the landowner may claim and use the tax credit subject to any other applicable procedures and requirements under title 39, C.R.S."

39-22-522. Credit against tax - conservation easements. (2.5) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section and the requirements of section 12-61-727, C.R.S., for income tax years commencing on or after January 1, 2011, a taxpayer conveying a conservation easement and claiming a credit pursuant to this section shall, in addition to any other requirements of this section and the requirements of section 12-61-727, C.R.S., submit a claim for the credit to the division of real estate in the department of regulatory agencies. The division shall issue a certificate for the claims received in the order submitted. After certificates have been issued for credits that exceed an aggregate of twenty-two million dollars for all taxpayers for the 2011 and 2012 calendar years, thirty-four million dollars for the 2013 calendar year, and forty-five million dollars for each calendar year thereafter, any claims that exceed the amount allowed for a specified calendar year shall be placed on a wait list in the order submitted and a certificate shall be issued for use of the credit in the next year for which the division has not issued credit certificates in excess of the amounts specified in this subsection (2.5); except that no more than fifteen million dollars in claims shall be placed on the wait list in any given calendar year. The division shall not issue credit certificates that exceed twenty-two million dollars in each of the 2011 and 2012 calendar years, thirty-four million dollars for the 2013 calendar year, and forty-five million dollars for each calendar year thereafter. In resolving disputes regarding the validity or the amount of a credit allowed pursuant to subsection (2) of this section, the executive director shall have the authority, for good cause shown, to review and accept or reject, in whole or in part, the amount of the credit and the validity of the credit based upon the internal revenue code and federal regulations in effect at the time of the donation, except those requirements for which authority is granted to the division of real estate DEPARTMENT OF REGULATORY AGENCIES, the executive director of the division of real estate DEPARTMENT OF REGULATORY AGENCIES, or the conservation easement oversight commission pursuant to section 12-61-727. C.R.S.

MESSAGE(S) FROM THE GOVERNOR

I certify I received the following on the 23rd day of March, 2018, at 4:15 p.m. The original is on file in the records of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly.

Marilyn Eddins,
Chief Clerk of the House

March 23, 2018

The Honorable Colorado House of Representatives
General Assembly
State Capitol
200 E. Colfax Ave.
Denver, CO 80203

Dear Members of the Colorado House of Representatives:

Today, we filed with the Secretary of State House Bill 18-1086, “Concerning Allowing Community Colleges to Offer a Bachelor of Science Degree in Nursing” (“HB 18-1086”). As I am neither signing nor vetoing HB 18-1086, the bill will become law at 12:01 A.M. on March 24, 2018. This letter sets forth my reasons for allowing HB 18-1086 to become law without my signature.

HB 18-1086 authorizes Colorado community colleges to offer a bachelor of science degree in nursing (“BSN”). The bill is crafted with the worthy goal to alleviate a documented shortage of nursing professionals. On this point, we take no issue. Furthermore, we believe a strong and coordinated statewide approach is necessary to effectively address this shortage. Far more must be done to thoroughly address this issue. Adequate nursing faculty are needed; clinical hours must be available; and a comprehensive conversation with education and healthcare providers, as well as the Board of Nursing and key stakeholders must occur. With the enactment of HB 18-1086, we direct the Commission on Higher Education (“CCHE”) to convene the appropriate stakeholders to understand where the industry is moving and how best to align educational programs with those trends. Colorado should lead on addressing this matter, identifying solutions, and implementing action plans.
However, in not signing HB 18-1086, we raise two major flaws. First, granting authority to the State Board for Community Colleges and Occupational Education (SBCCOE) rather than the CCHE to determine BSN offerings is a highly questionable expansion of the role of Colorado’s community college system board. State law places strict boundaries around the role and mission of each college and college system in the State. This structure ensures a strong postsecondary system that meets students’ needs and ensures accessible, cost-effective programs. Current law limits the “role and mission” of the Colorado Community College System to “general, personal, career, and technical education programs.” HB 18-1086 expands that mission to allow the SBCCOE to authorize a four-year BSN completion degree as well. While seemingly minor, this expansion of role and mission could lead to program duplication and inefficiencies in the higher education system.

The bill’s proponents contend that precedent for community colleges to offer advanced and four-year degree programs approved by the SBCCOE was already set when the General Assembly authorized Red Rocks Community College to provide a graduate program in physician assistant studies. We find this argument unpersuasive. A second instance of questionable mission expansion is not made more reassuring by a first.

Second, we are troubled by the limited outreach by the bill’s proponents in not involving all relevant stakeholders and higher education institutions in crafting this legislation prior to enlisting sponsors. All legislation benefits from broad and robust engagement. Such collaboration would certainly have benefited this bill - and might have alleviated or addressed the issue we raise above.

We remain hopeful that HB 18-1086 will help lessen the nursing shortage, and do not doubt the Board’s intention to succeed at a high level. In future legislation, however, the General Assembly should not permit erosion of the important and necessary oversight of the CCHE, nor accept mission-creep by the SBCCOE, despite laudable goals that may conceal such expansions.

For these reasons, I allowed House Bill 18-1086 to become law without my signature.

Sincerely,

(signed)

John W. Hickenlooper
Governor

Representative Leonard moved to amend the Report of the Committee of the Whole to reverse the action taken by the Committee in not adopting the following Leonard amendment, to HB 18-1340, to show that said amendment passed, that Amendment No. 1, by Representative(s) Duran and Winter (printed in House Journal page(s) 717 lines 39 through 56, page(s) 718 through 720, page(s) 721 lines 1 through 18), to HB18-1340, lost, and that HB 18-1340, as amended, passed.

Amend printed bill, strike everything below the enacting clause and substitute:

SECTION 1. Short title. The short title of this act is the "Sustainable Rural Highway Building and Maintenance Act".

SECTION 2. Legislative declaration. (1) The general assembly hereby finds and declares that:

(a) Colorado's population has increased in the past twenty years from four million to five million six hundred thousand, an increase of just over forty percent;

(b) The growth of the state operating budget has outpaced population growth, increasing by an average of almost one billion dollars per year, from nine billion five hundred million dollars for the state fiscal year 1997-98 to twenty-eight billion nine hundred million dollars for the state fiscal year 2017-18, an increase of just over three hundred percent;

(c) Colorado's commitment to use state general revenue to fund transportation has been inconsistent and dependent upon general economic conditions at best and often nonexistent as:
(I) From state fiscal year 1997-98 through state fiscal year 2001-02, and from state fiscal year 2005-06 through state fiscal year 2007-08, pursuant to Senate Bill 97-001, the state dedicated over one billion four hundred million dollars of state sales and use tax net revenue for transportation funding;

(II) From state fiscal year 2003-04 through state fiscal year 2008-09, pursuant to House Bill 02-1310, the state dedicated over six hundred forty million dollars of state general fund surplus for transportation funding;

(III) From state fiscal year 2015-16 through state fiscal year 2017-18, pursuant to Senate Bill 09-228 and subsequent bills that greatly reduced the amounts of originally dedicated transportation funding under Senate Bill 09-228, the state dedicated over three hundred fifty million dollars of state general fund money for transportation funding;

(IV) For state fiscal year 2002-03 and from state fiscal year 2010-11 through state fiscal year 2014-15, excluding a total of two million dollars of general fund appropriations for specific programs within the department of transportation, the state did not dedicate any state general fund money for transportation funding; and

(V) No general state revenue is currently statutorily dedicated for transportation, without the need for further annual appropriation, for state fiscal year 2017-18 or for any future state fiscal year; and

(d) Colorado's population is expected to continue to rapidly increase to six million nine hundred thousand by 2030, and to preserve and maintain Colorado's quality of life and economic prosperity in the face of this rapid population growth it is necessary to expand and maintain a useful and reliable highway and road system that allows the efficient movement of people and goods without the consequences of and resulting from undue idling of vehicles and people.

(2) The general assembly further finds and declares that:

(a) In 1999, the general assembly and the voters of the state approved Referendum A, which authorized the state to issue one billion seven hundred million dollars of transportation revenue anticipation notes, without raising taxes, to accelerate the funding and completion of twenty-eight strategic transportation projects in significant corridors, including the T-REX project, the highly successful expansion and traffic mitigation project for the Interstate 25 corridor in the Denver metropolitan area, and the state paid off the notes in full in 2017;

(b) The success of the 1999 transportation revenue anticipation notes program for the Denver metropolitan area shows that leveraging existing revenue is a prudent and cost-effective means of accelerating and delivering large-scale and economically significant transportation projects within major transportation corridors as well as throughout the rural areas of the state;

(c) Since the completion of the 1999 projects, Coloradans have waited patiently for their roads and highways to be expanded and repaired, but annual reprioritization has caused significant deferrals of construction and maintenance of highways and roads, leaving them inadequate to accommodate Colorado's population growth;

(d) In 2017, the general assembly enacted Senate Bill 17-267 which:

(I) Requires the state to sell and lease back state-owned facilities for twenty years to generate one billion eight hundred eighty million dollars to fund transportation projects throughout the state;

(II) Does not specify a project list or deadlines for project commencement; and
(III) Does not fully identify the sources of funds to be used by the state to make lease payments indicating only that the annual lease payments may not exceed one hundred forty-one million dollars, that a maximum of fifty million dollars of each annual lease payment must be paid from any legally available money under the control of the transportation commission, and that any remaining money needed to make lease payments must be paid from the general fund or any other legally available source of money;

e) The costs to the state of financing transportation projects using lease-purchase agreements are greater than the costs of financing transportation projects using transportation revenue anticipation notes;

(f) It is therefore reasonable, necessary, appropriate, and cost-effective, if required statewide voter approval can be obtained, for the state, without raising taxes, to issue three and one-half billion dollars of new transportation revenue anticipation notes to be used, in lieu of the Senate Bill 17-267 lease-purchase agreements, to fund highway projects; and

g) It is also reasonable, necessary, and appropriate for the general assembly to statutorily dedicate seven and one-half percent of state sales and use tax net revenue to repay any new transportation revenue anticipation notes issued and provide an additional source of sustainable funding for highway and bridge maintenance.

SECTION 3. In Colorado Revised Statutes, 24-82-1301, amend (1)(a) and (1)(b) as follows:

24-82-1301. Legislative declaration. (1) The general assembly hereby finds and declares that:

(a) Due to insufficient funding, necessary high-priority state highway projects and state capital construction projects, including projects at state institutions of higher education, in all areas of the state have been delayed, and the state has also delayed critical controlled maintenance and upkeep of state capital assets;

(b) By issuing lease-purchase agreements using state buildings as collateral as authorized by this part 13, the state can generate sufficient funds to accelerate the completion of many of the necessary high-priority state highway projects and capital construction projects that have been delayed and better maintain and preserve existing state capital assets;

SECTION 4. In Colorado Revised Statutes, 24-82-1303, amend (2)(a), (2)(b), (2)(d), (3)(a), and (4); and repeal (1) as follows:

24-82-1303. Lease-purchase agreements for capital construction projects. (1) On or before December 31, 2017, the state architect, the director of the office of state planning and budgeting or his or her designee, and the state institutions of higher education shall identify and prepare a collaborative list of eligible state facilities that can be collateralized as part of the lease-purchase agreements for capital construction and transportation projects authorized in this part 13. The total current replacement value of the identified buildings must equal at least two billion dollars.

(2) (a) Notwithstanding the provisions of sections 24-82-102(1)(b) and 24-82-801, and pursuant to section 24-36-121, no sooner than July 1, 2018, DURING THE 2018-19 STATE FISCAL YEAR the state, acting by and through the state treasurer, shall execute lease-purchase agreements, each for no more than twenty years of annual payments, IN THE AMOUNT OF ONE HUNDRED TWENTY MILLION DOLLARS for the projects described in subsection (4) of this section. The state shall execute the lease-purchase agreements only in accordance with the following schedule:
(I) During the 2018-19 state fiscal year, the state shall execute lease-purchase agreements in an amount up to five hundred million dollars;

(II) During the 2019-20 state fiscal year, the state shall execute lease-purchase agreements in an amount up to five hundred million dollars;

(III) During the 2020-21 state fiscal year, the state shall execute lease-purchase agreements in an amount up to five hundred million dollars; and

(IV) During the 2021-22 fiscal year, the state shall execute lease-purchase agreements in an amount up to five hundred million dollars:

(b) The anticipated annual state-funded payments for the principal and interest components of the amount payable under all lease-purchase agreements entered into pursuant to subsection (2)(a) of this section shall not exceed one hundred fifty nine million dollars.

(d) Any lease-purchase agreement executed as required by subsection (2)(a) of this section shall provide that all of the obligations of the state under the agreement are subject to the action of the general assembly in annually making money available for all payments thereunder. Payments under any lease-purchase agreement must be made, subject to annual allocation pursuant to section 43-1-113 by the transportation commission created in section 43-1-106 (1) or subject to annual appropriation by the general assembly, as applicable, from the following sources of money:

(I) First, nine million dollars annually, or any lesser amount that is sufficient to make each full payment due, shall be paid from the general fund or any other legally available source of money for the purpose of fully funding the controlled maintenance and capital construction projects in the state to be funded with the proceeds of lease-purchase agreements as specified in subsection (4)(a) of this section; (4) OF THIS SECTION.

(II) Next, fifty million dollars annually, or any lesser amount that is sufficient to make each full payment due, shall be paid from any legally available money under the control of the transportation commission solely for the purpose of allowing the construction, supervision, and maintenance of state highways to be funded with the proceeds of lease-purchase agreements as specified in subsection (4)(b) of this section and section 43-4-206 (1)(b)(V); and

(III) The remainder of the amount needed, in addition to the amounts specified in subsections (2)(d)(I) and (2)(d)(II) of this section, to make each full payment due shall be paid from the general fund or any other legally available source of money.

(3) (a) Before executing a lease-purchase agreement required by subsection (2)(a) of this section, in order to protect against future interest rate increases, the state, acting by and through the state treasurer and at the discretion of the state treasurer, may enter into an interest rate exchange agreement pursuant to article 59.3 of title 11. A lease-purchase agreement executed as required by subsection (2)(a) of this section is a proposed public security for the purposes of article 59.3 of title 11. Any payments made by the state under an agreement entered into pursuant to this subsection (3) must be made solely from money made available to the state treasurer from the execution of a lease-purchase agreement or from money described in subsections (2)(d)(I) and (2)(d)(II) OF THIS SECTION.

(4) Proceeds of lease-purchase agreements executed as required by subsection (2)(a) of this section shall be used as follows:

(b) The remainder of the proceeds shall be credited to the state highway fund created in section 43-1-219 and used by the department of transportation in accordance with section 43-4-206 (1)(b)(V).
