Summary of Legislation

The bill redefines autocycles as motorcycles that do not use handlebars and have passengers riding in a fully or partly enclosed seating area. The bill also clarifies that child restraint and safety belt laws apply to autocycles.

Background

House Bill 14-1367 classified autocycles as a separate vehicle than motorcycles, allowed for the operation of an autocycle without a motorcycle license endorsement, and limited other motorcycle-specific rules from applying to autocycle operators. Autocycles are specifically titled and registered as autocycles and issued autocycle license plates. As of January 2017, there are three autocycles registered in Colorado. There are other autocycles that have been registered as motorcycles based on the limited definition in current law. It is estimated that there are between 100 to 200 of these currently registered in Colorado.

State Revenue

The bill's amended definition of autocycle will require three vehicles currently titled and licensed as autocycles to be reclassified and titled and licensed as motorcycles between FY 2016-17 and FY 2017-18. As a result, these autocycle owners will incur fees to re-register their vehicles as autocycles, and pay the associated fees to the Division of Motor Vehicles and clerk and recorder offices. The impact to state fee revenue has not been estimated, but is expected to be minimal.

State Expenditures

Between FY 2016-17 and FY 2017-18, the Department of Revenue (DOR) will have a minimal increase in expenditures to mail notifications to autocycle owners who will be required to update to motorcycle titles and registrations, as well as costs to process those applications. In addition, workload will increase in the DOR and the Department of Public Safety to train staff and other entities affected by the legislation, and to update rules, forms, manuals, and websites. These cost and workload increases can be addressed within the existing appropriations of these departments.

Local Government Impact

Clerk and recorder offices retain a recorder fee for every title fee processed. As such, these offices will see a minimal increase in workload and revenue from title fees between FY 2016-17 and FY 2017-18.

Effective Date

The bill was signed into law by the Governor and took effect on March 23, 2017.
