Summary of Legislation

This bill repeals and reenacts with modifications the Colorado Uniform Directed Trust Act. Among the various changes, this bill specifies:

- the creation of the position of the trust director, who may oversee a trust in addition to the trustee and the trust advisor, and who may be granted a power of direction,
- the type of information sharing among trustees and trust directors, including that trust directors are not liable for breach of trust to the extent the breach resulted from reliance on information provided from trustees,
- additional duties and liabilities of trust directors and trustees, and
- judicial proceedings, including taking into account the standard of care applicable to each fiduciary in the proceeding when apportioning damages, fees, costs, or fault among the fiduciaries.

State Revenue

Beginning in the FY 2019-20, this bill increases state cash fund revenue from civil filing fees by a minimal amount. The exact revenue impact will depend on the number of civil cases resulting from the bill and the amount of damages sought and has not been estimated. For informational purposes, the civil filing fee for county court ranges from $85 to $135 depending on the amount of damages sought and the filing fee for district court is $235. Civil cases seeking damages of less than $25,000 may be filed in county or district court, while cases seeking damages over $25,000 must be filed in district court. Civil filing fees are subject to TABOR.

State Expenditures

This bill potentially increases costs and workload in the Judicial Department beginning in FY 2019-20, to process additional civil case filings and litigation in trust matters. This increase in workload can be accomplished within existing appropriations. If an increase in court activity requires additional resources, the Judicial Department will seek new appropriations via the annual budget process.

Local Government

Similar to the state, beginning in the FY 2019-20, this bill increases revenue and workload for Denver County Court for any civil actions seeking damages under $25,000 commenced within the City and County of Denver. This impact is expected to be minimal.

Effective Date

The bill was signed into law Governor on March 28, 2019, and took effect August 2, 2019.
