parent, legal guardian, or custodian exposes a child to their perpetration of domestic abuse, to the definition of child abuse or neglect.

Under current law, child welfare caseworkers do not have established training policies or assessment procedures to identify and assess situations when a child's parent, legal guardian, or custodian exposes a child to their perpetration of domestic abuse. The bill requires the department of human services to promulgate rules to implement assessment policies, procedures, and training for child welfare caseworkers to recognize and assess situations when a child's parent, legal guardian, or custodian exposes a child to their perpetration of domestic abuse.

1 Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Colorado:

2 SECTION 1. Legislative declaration. (1) The general assembly
3 hereby finds and declares that:

4 (a) It is vital to keep children safe and families healthy and 5 enhance the state's response to domestic abuse. Because the child welfare 6 system has proven to disproportionately impact low-income families and 7 members of Black, Indigenous, and persons of color communities,
8 policies, rules, or procedures that address the impact of domestic abuse 9 on families must be drafted with the goal of ensuring that these 10 communities are not disproportionately or unfairly impacted.

11 (b) Colorado can improve its diversity training and promote the 12 understanding of the culture and background of the families that the child 13 welfare system serves;

14 (c) Each year, approximately fifteen million children nationwide
15 are exposed to domestic abuse and child abuse, which are often linked;

16 (d) In Colorado, roughly forty percent of child fatality cases 17 reviewed by the child welfare fatality review team between 2014 and 18 2019 found domestic abuse to be a stressor;

19 (e) In families where a parent, legal guardian, or custodian

1 engages in domestic abuse, children witness patterns of coercive
2 behaviors, which demean and harm the nonoffending caregiver.
3 Witnessing harm to a caregiver is detrimental to a child's development 4 and emotional well-being.

5 (f) A child's risk of abuse increases after a perpetrator of domestic 6 abuse separates from a domestic partner, even when the perpetrator has 7 not previously abused the child;

8 (g) The safety of children and the safety of the nonoffending 9 caregiver are reciprocal and paramount to improving the well-being of the 10 child and the family as a whole; and

11 (h) Due to the episodic nature of domestic abuse behaviors, it is 12 challenging for child welfare caseworkers and others to connect a specific 13 incident of domestic abuse to the harmful emotional and developmental 14 impact on a child. It is also a challenge to illustrate the detrimental impact 15 on the nonoffending caregiver's relationship with the child, which can be 16 impeded due to the effects of domestic abuse.

17 (2) The general assembly finds, therefore, that when an 18 occurrence of domestic abuse being witnessed by a child has been 19 identified, there must be meaningful efforts to safely engage with the 20 family and to enhance the safety of the child, including:

21 (a) To create clear and specific documentation of the concerning 22 behaviors, the family member engaging in those behaviors, and the 23 impact on the nonoffending caregiver and the child;

24 (b) To keep the nonoffending caregiver and the child together
25 when possible;

26 (c) To offer an array of services to mitigate the risk to the 27 nonoffending caregiver and the child, and to facilitate healing; and

1 (d) To continue monitoring for potential disparities, including but 2 not limited to racial equity and socioeconomic barriers.
