classification who entered in FY 2019-20, FY 2020-21, or FY 2021-22 is assumed to have no increase in tuition through FY 2022-23, FY 2023-24, and FY 2024-25, respectively, for the same credit hours and course of study. A new undergraduate student at the University of Colorado Boulder with in-state classification is assumed to pay no more than 4.3 percent over what a student would have paid in FY 2021-22 for the same credit hours and course of study, except as provided below for students in Natural Sciences and Environmental Design programs, and to pay the same tuition rate through FY 2025-26 so long as the student is continuously enrolled and making academic progress. A new undergraduate student enrolled in Natural Sciences at the University of Colorado Boulder campus is assumed to be assessed tuition at the same rate as a new student enrolled in Engineering, and a new undergraduate student enrolled in Environmental Design at the University of Boulder campus is assumed to be assessed tuition at the same rate as a new student enrolled in Media, Communication, and Information. The amount in this line item is also calculated based on the assumption that no undergraduate student with in-state classification enrolled at the University of Colorado Denver or the University of Colorado Colorado Springs will pay more in tuition in FY 2022-23 than two percent over what a student would have paid in FY 2021-22 for the same credit hours and course of study; except that mandatory student fees of up to a total of $420 for 30 credit hours at the University of Colorado Denver and $240 for 30 credit hours at the University of Colorado Colorado Springs may be incorporated into resident tuition rates, with no resulting effective combined tuition and mandatory fee increase to any student, and any incorporated fees shall never be reestablished as a student fee. This amount is also calculated based on the assumption that each governing board will increase tuition rates for graduate and nonresident students based on its assessment of market conditions. The General Assembly intends to adjust the amount in this line item through supplemental action during FY 2022-23 based on updated enrollment estimates and tuition rate information.
