2 SECTION 1. Legislative declaration. (1) The general assembly finds and declares that:

- (a) The state of Colorado prioritizes providing equitable services and ensuring equitable outcomes to the residents of Colorado;
- (b) All people are equal. Inequities have been created in the United States intentionally and unintentionally over time by people. These same inequities are prevalent in the child welfare system in the United States and cause harm.
 - (c) The general assembly seeks to understand how discrimination has been directly linked to harmful practices, systems, and policies of the state;
 - (d) Many factors contribute to the inequalities and inequities, including the intentional and unintentional biases of individuals and the systematizing of those biases in businesses, organizations, and governmental institutions;

- (e) The 2023 Colorado's Child Welfare System Interim Study Committee studied how families of color, LGBTQ+ children, and people with disabilities have a greater chance of coming into contact with the child welfare system and experiencing poor outcomes while involved with the child welfare system. The committee examined ways to reduce child welfare system involvement for families of color and other populations that face discrimination.
- (f) Statewide, Black children are significantly overrepresented at every key decision point on the child welfare case management continuum. Hispanic and Latino children are slightly overrepresented at every key decision point, while American Indian or Alaska Native children are overrepresented in founded reports and entering and being in foster care. At the same time, Asian and white children are underrepresented at every key decision point.
- (g) There is a strong need for further data collection and reporting around disparity and disproportionality in the child welfare system to examine where state and local practices, systems, and policies can be improved to minimize disparity and disproportionality; and
- (h) There is also a strong need for measurable proficiency in equity, diversity, and inclusion training for those who work in the child welfare system to minimize disparity and disproportionality at key decision points in the child welfare system.
- (2) Therefore, the general assembly declares that it is critical for Colorado's entire child welfare system to identify and dismantle disproportional impacts and inequities in its child welfare system to ensure equitable treatment, equitable access to services, and positive
