Summary of Legislation

House Bill 23-1037 allows inmates sentenced for a nonviolent felony offense to receive additional earned time for completing an accredited degree or other credential awarded by a regionally accredited institution of higher education while the inmate is incarcerated. Specifically, an offender receives 2 years of earned time for a doctoral degree, 1.5 years of earned time for a master's degree, 1 year of earned time for an associate or baccalaureate degree, and 0.5 year earned time for a certificate or other credential that requires at least 30 credit hours. Generally, an offender cannot reduce their sentence by more than 30 percent. The bill exempts earned time received from completing an accredited degree from the 30 percent statutory limit.

State Expenditures

By removing the limit on earned time for accredited degrees, some eligible offenders will become eligible for parole at an earlier date. To the extent these offenders receive parole earlier, expenditures in the Department of Corrections will decrease. The fiscal note assumes that any impact will be minimal and be addressed through the annual budget process.

Effective Date

The bill was signed into law by the Governor on June 5, 2024, and takes effect on August 7, 2024, assuming no referendum petition is filed, and it applies to earned time awarded on or after that date.
