government with total revenues or expenditures that are over $100,000 and no more than $750,000 during a fiscal year may also complete an application for exemption from audit. A local government seeking this exemption must provide the state auditor with an application that is prepared by an independent accountant with knowledge of government accounting.

The bill changes these 2 thresholds for any fiscal year commencing on or after January 1, 2025. First, the bill changes the $100,000 threshold to $200,000. Second, the bill changes the $750,000 threshold to $1,000,000. The bill would provide consistency with federal requirements and align statutory thresholds with current inflationary values.

1 Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Colorado:
