Introduction

David Shapiro

Senior Manager, Programs & Partnerships
Center for Health, Work & Environment

Founder & Interim CEO
Avid 4 Adventure

Based at the University of Colorado Anschutz Medical Campus. A collaboration between the Center for Health, Work & Environment and the Colorado Consortium for Prescription Drug Abuse Prevention, we aim to address the national mental health crisis and substance use epidemic made worse by the COVID-19 pandemic.

Colorado Recovery Friendly Workplace Initiative

The Colorado Recovery Friendly Workplace (RFW) Initiative acknowledges the critical role employers hold in elevating the importance of mental health in the workplace. The objective of the initiative is to recruit business leaders across the state to collaboratively identify and implement RFW principles across all industries in order to improve workplace well-being and performance.

Definition

A Recovery Friendly Workplace (RFW) is an organization that uses evidence-based policies and practices to unite the entire organization by recognizing recovery from addiction as a strength and by being willing to work intentionally with people in recovery.

Recovery Friendly Workplace Initiatives by State

Colorado is one of over 30 states in the US with RFW Initiatives.

Colorado participates in the RFW Community of Practice along with the other states, the U.S. Department of Labor, and the White House Office of National Drug Control Policy (ONDCP)

Colorado's RFW Initiative

Funding

To date, Colorado's RFW Initiative has been supported by funding from the American Rescue Plan Act and a cooperative agreement (U19OH011227) with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health as part of one of ten national Centers of Excellence for Total Worker Health®.

RFW Peer Learning Series Key Takeaways

- Diversity, Equity & Inclusion: Employing individuals in recovery can be part of the company's diversity, equity & inclusion practice.
- Communication: If the company wants to reduce the stigma associated with SUD and recovery, it needs executive leadership to talk about mental health and substance misuse.
- Awareness: There are evidence-based resources available to help our company talk about SUD and recovery as a workplace issue.
- Individualized: RFW policies and practices require an individualized and personalized approach, each company is different and is joining the initiative based on its previous experience (or lack thereof).
- Network: There are many companies that want to have the RFW conversation and work to support and hire employees in recovery, companies can learn from one another.
- Policies & Practices: RFW requires evaluation and updating of the company's policies and practices around mental health and substance use (i.e. drug free workplace policy, reasonable suspicion policy, mental health training, suicide prevention training, etc.

Model Employer Incentives for RFW Certification Program

WOTC (Federal)

The Work Opportunity Tax Credit, or WOTC, is a general business credit provided under section 51 of the Internal Revenue Code (Code) that is jointly administered by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) and the Department of Labor (DOL). The WOTC is available for wages paid to certain individuals who begin work on or before December 31, 2025. The WOTC may be claimed by any employer that hires and pays or incurs wages to certain individuals who are certified by a designated local agency (sometimes referred to as a state workforce agency) as being a member of one of 10 targeted groups. In general, the WOTC is equal to 40% of up to $6,000 of wages paid to, or incurred on behalf of, an individual who:

- is in their first year of employment;
- is certified as being a member of a targeted group; and
- performs at least 400 hours of services for that employer.

Thus, the maximum tax credit is generally $2,400. A 25% rate applies to wages for individuals who perform fewer than 400 but at least 120 hours of service for the employer. Up to $24,000 in wages may be taken into account in determining the WOTC for certain qualified veterans.

WOTC (Federal)

An employer may claim the WOTC for an individual who is certified as a member of any of the following targeted groups under section 51 of the Code:

- the formerly incarcerated or those previously convicted of a felony;
- recipients of state assistance under part A of title IV of the Social Security Act (SSA);
- veterans;
- residents in areas designated as empowerment zones or rural renewal counties;
- individuals referred to an employer following completion of a rehabilitation plan or program;
- individuals whose families are recipients of supplemental nutrition assistance under the Food and Nutrition Act of 2008;
- recipients of supplemental security income benefits under title XVI of the SSA;
- individuals whose families are recipients of state assistance under part A of title IV of the SSA; and
- individuals experiencing long-term unemployment.

Could a Colorado State tax credit be issued to certified RFW employers?

Colorado Child Care Contribution Tax Credit

Taxpayers that make a qualifying monetary contribution to promote child care in Colorado may claim an income tax credit of 50% of the total qualifying contribution. The credit a taxpayer can claim for qualifying contributions made during a tax year is limited to $100,000. In-kind contributions of services or property (non-monetary donations) do not qualify for the credit.

Any taxpayer that makes a qualifying contribution can claim the child care contribution credit. Resident and nonresident individuals, estates, trusts, and C corporations can all claim the credit for qualifying contributions they make, either directly or as a partner or a shareholder in a partnership or S corporation that makes a qualifying contribution.

Could a contribution tax credit like this work for employers who hire/employe individuals in recovery?
